Berlin Says 'All's Well' Aboard Flint

NAZIS GUIDING SHIP THROUGH SEA BLOCKADE

Inclement Weather Helping German Captors to Slip Past British Guard.

DESTINATION SECRET

Court to Decide If American Boat Was Carrier of Cargo On Contraband List.

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN — News reached Berlin this morning that all was well aboard the United States-owned freighter City of Flint as she wormed her way through the British-blockaded North sea toward a German port.

The freighter was being convoyed by German warships—presumably both submarines and surface craft. Aboard her, it was believed, were the American crew of 41 and the prize crew put in command last week when the German pocket battleship Deutschland captured her.

If she gets through to a German harbor, a prize court will pass on the question of whether she was a contraband carrier and decide as to disposition of ship and cargo.

Germans recognized the danger involved in the precarious job of slipping past British warcraft. Bad weather and low visibility, however, were on their side.

Called 'Unseaworthy.'

The City of Flint sailed under Soviet Russian orders Thursday night to leave the Arctic port of Murmansk, where the prize crew had taken her because she was—as the Germans put it—"unseaworthy."

Foreign office spokesmen said that the ship's destination remained a naval secret.

(Release of the City of Flint from Murmansk was followed up at Moscow by United States Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt with an expression of his "indignation at the lack of co-operation by the Soviet government in withholding information" on the City of Flint.

(Steinhardt reported his representations and said Potemkin told him that Russia had decided to send the freighter out "in the same status as she had entered"—with both American and German crews aboard and the cargo still in the holds.)

The German high command, meanwhile, acknowledged that the loss of "three German submarines must be counted on in view of their long absence."

The high command also reported that since the beginning of the war at least 115 merchant ships with an aggregate tonnage of 475,321 had been sent to the bottom by Germany.

Martha Raye Eats a 3 A. M. Breakfast at Galion Diner

GALION—It was in the wee hours of the morning that Screen Actress Martha Raye paid a visit to Galion but thanks to a handful of late-go-to-bedders, the word soon got around.

Comedienne Martha, traveling in a special car on an Erie railroad passenger train, arrived in Galion at 3 a. m.

During a wait of nearly two hours while her car was being switched to another train, Miss Raye got off and stepped into a lunch room near the railroad station for an early breakfast.

A few early morning customers were in the diner. Someone recognized the actress and the word was whispered around to the rest. And when reports that the actress was in the lunch room reached the outside, the diner experienced a rush of coffee orders and it wasn't until Miss Raye left that waiters took time out to have a snack of their own.

Dems Uncork New Similes In Campaign

Liken Locke's Platform to That of Street Car, Hunter to Race Horse.

Democratic political campaigners, casting about for some semblance of an issue in a municipal campaign that has been void of any verbal explosives, last night compared Mayor Claude M. Hunter, to a race horse, and the platform of his Republican opponent, William J. Locke to that of a street car.

The comparisons were made by Atty. John C. O'Donnell, chairman of the Richland county Democratic executive committee, and Assistant County Prosecutor Harold T. Lutz, speaking before 200 persons in the common pleas court room at the courthouse last night.

"So far, Locke has no platform," Lutz said. "What he claims as one is like a platform on a street car — something to get in on, but not to stand on."

"When you bet on race horses," O'Donnell asserted. "You consult the chart and look over their record.

Points To Mayor's Record.

"Your mayor — Mayor Hunter has a record during his first term that is a challenge to anyone. You can be proud of him. He is honorable and common.

"And remember you can't paint a house with applesauce," O'Donnell asserted. Neither can the Republican candidate for mayor be elected on applesauce.

"He had promised a straight forward business-like administration.

"You have that now. Are you going to trade a promise for a reality? I don't think that the intelligent voters of Mansfield will."

He termed Locke's promise to solve the traffic problem "a joke," telling his audience that if Locke would go to Cleveland "he could probably get $25,000 for such an offer."

Blasting at Locke's billboard advertising which he said carries the word "unbossed," Lutz asked if it was consistent with a statement made Monday by the Republican candidate whom he said stated that if elected he "would solicit counsel from citizens best qualified."

"If he is unbossed how is it that he was hand-picked to represent the Republican party. I

9 BID ON BONDS

City Studies Proposals on $25,000 Relief Issue.

City officials today were studying the bids of nine financial firms submitted on a $25,000 delinquent tax bond issue which is to finance the relief needs for the balance of the year.

The bids were opened yesterday by City Auditor Paul L. Kelley and Mayor Claude M. Hunter. Kelley said the bonds probably would not be sold for at least another week until council's finance committee has a chance to go over the various proposals.

Of the nine firms that entered proposals interest rates were quoted from 1¾ per cent to 2¼ per cent with premiums ranging from $10 to $72.

Three Mansfield banks offered unconditional bids. They were the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank, Citizens National Bank and Trust company, and the Richland Trust company.

Torrents of rain which fell in Mansfield and vicinity yesterday afternoon converted Mansfield streets into miniature rivers as these two pictures indicate. At the bottom is another automobile creeping through water spilling over its running boards on West Third street between Mulberry and Bowman.

AUTUMN BACK AS RAIN ENDS

Sinking Mercury Follows One Of Wettest Weeks In Several Years.

BULLETIN

The first snow of the season began falling in Mansfield shortly before noon today.

Autumn was back today after one of the wettest weeks in several years and sinking temperatures indicated a fair and cold week-end for Mansfield.

The rainy spell was climaxed by a downpour of cloudburst proportions yesterday afternoon that turned city streets into miniature rivers. Three-quarters of an inch of rain fell in 15 minutes early yesterday afternoon in one of the hardest rains in years, Otto Sprunger, co-operative weather observer reported.

In all, two inches of rain fell in the last 36 hours.

The downpour yesterday flooded city streets over the curbing and choked the storm sewer system.

Sunday weather will be fair and cold. The maximum temperature during the 12 hours before daybreak today was 47 and the low was 37 for an average of 43 degrees.

The chilling lows which followed yesterday's heavy shower brought the temperatures down to normal for this time of year. The 14-year average for today is 47 as contrasted with the balmy 70's recorded in the last few days.

FIXES CROSSING

Erie Closes Bowman Street Grade Monday, Tuesday for Repairs.

Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist announced today that the Erie railroad crossing on Bowman street will be closed Monday and Tuesday while the company is engaged in making changes in the tracks.

During the period the crossing is torn up traffic will be detoured over Springmill and North Mulberry streets, he explained.

Ohio Meets Cornell In Day's Major Football Attraction

College football teams hit the road today in an intersectional program topped by the game at Columbus between Cornell, best in the east, and Ohio State, powerhouse of the Big Ten.

This was only one of a group of intersectional affairs, which more than offset a scarcity of action on the high school fields in Ohio.

The scolastic card in this section of the state was headed by the games which pitted Akron Kenmore against Mansfield at Stadium field and Marion against Shelby in the Whippets' park. The Tygers sought revenge for a 33 to 6 setback last year in their game, while Shelby attempted to remain in the N. C. O. conference title race with a victory over the unbeaten Presidents.

Rated slightly below the Ohio-State-Cornell game in the midwest was the Yale-Michigan tilt at Ann Arbor, and the Wolverines were not looking for too much trouble.

Other headline attractions were the games involving Carnegie Tech-Notre Dame, Fordham-Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania-North Carolina and Southern California-California.

Handyman Dismembered Woman: Quizzed in Cleveland Mystery.

OMAHA, Neb. — (U.P.) — Jeff Lowe, 45, colored handyman who confessed last night the slaying and dismemberment of an Omaha housewife, was questioned today about 12 torso slayings at Cleveland.

Two highway patrolmen seized him in a corn field at Glidden, Ia., late last night and he confessed to Sheriff Thomas J. Finagan that he killed Mrs. Abraham Schwaezkin, 49, wife of an Omaha cantor, after a quarrel over $5

NAZI, BRITISH PLANES BATTLE OVER SCOTLAND

Two German Airmen Killed In Dramatic Duel, Watched by Thrilled Hundreds.

NEAR FIRTH OF FORTH

Witness Describes 'Magnificent Display of Acrobatics' In Aerial Dogfight.

(By International News Service)

LONDON — Two German airmen were killed today in a thrilling aerial combat with British fighters near the Scottish town of Dakleith, witnessed by hundreds of civilians in streets and fields.

Two of the four members of the German crew were dead when the plane was brought down. Eyewitnesses told dramatic stories of the combat.

The engagement was fought in full view of hundreds who stood in streets and fields to watch the planes grapple in mid-air. During the combat, a shower of bullets fell in the streets of one East Lothian town.

A Scottish civilian who was with a group of 100 standing on a hilltop to watch the clash said:

"I heard a burst of machine-gun fire and then saw the German streak across the sky, with British fighters in close pursuit.

"The German twisted, rolled and looped, always followed by the British.

"It was a magnificent display of aerial acrobatics and held us spell bound, but finally the German was forced down on a field. While the British circled above him, the enemy plane taxied and rose a short distance from the ground, but was again forced down.

"He crashed through a stone wall and then into a hillside, cracking up his plane."

This brings to at least 17 the number of reich planes lost in reconnaissance flights over the British Isles, according to British claims. Dalkeith is below the Firth of Forth, and southeast of Edinburgh.

HITS FIRST SNOW

Antarctic Cruiser Reaches Ft. Wayne, Heads Eastward.

More than a day behind its schedule, the giant antarctic snow cruiser Admiral Byrd will take to the South pole, finally reached Ft. Wayne, Ind., this morning and had its first encounter with snow.

Scattered snowflakes were swirling in a brisk wind as the "ice buggy" lumbered over Ft. Wayne streets at 6 a. m. and headed for Ohio on its trip from Chicago to Boston.

When the cruiser will reach Mansfield over route 30 was still a puzzle but highway patrolmen said they expected it "sometime Sunday."

The snow cruiser was due to have reached Ft. Wayne Thursday night, but narrow bridges and a minor clash with a truck disrupted its schedule.

Leaders Claim Senate Passage Will Be Upheld

Predict Congress Adjournment, Sale Of Arms To Warring Europe By Late Next Week; Repealists Claiming 30-Vote Majority In Lower Chamber.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Administration leaders predicted today that congress would clear the way for arms sales to Europe's warring nations and go home by next week-end.

They forecast prompt house passage of the neutrality revision bill, which the senate approved by a vote vote of 63 to 30 last night after 21 days of debate.

One member of the house leadership said a careful count of noses indicated that repeal of the arms embargo—key provision which many legislators on both sides of the controversy agreed would benefit Great Britain and France—would be approved by a majority of at least 30 votes.

The house was expected to take up the bill early next week and send it to a joint senate-house conference committee. The house approved a modified embargo in the regular congressional session earlier this year, and its bill thus must be adjusted with the senate measure before legislation can be enacted finally.

Congressional insiders generally agreed that an administration-inclined conference committee would make its work short and would write a compromise measure embodying virtually all of the senate bill. The committee's action would then have to be ratified by both branches of congress.

Restricts Credits, Shipping.

Besides carrying out President Roosevelt's recommendation that the arms embargo be eliminated, the senate measure would impose restrictions on American credits, shipping and travel to belligerent countries.

The final senate vote, taken before galleries packed to the walls, was followed by an unexpected and bitter outbreak over the usually-insignificant point of how the preamble should read.

The bill was offered to the senate without a preamble.

Senator Connally (D., Texas), a supporter of the legislation, waited until the measure was passed and then proposed one stating that this country desired to preserve its neutrality and that in imposing restrictions on its shipping and its citizens it was surrendering none of its right under international law.

The debate had been alternately bitter, sarcastic and amusing in the last hours before passage of the bill, and Senator Minton (D., Ind.) presiding, was banging his gavel almost constantly.

OHIO SENATORS SPLIT

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Ohio's vote in the senate was split as the administration's arms embargo repeal bill was approved.

Senator Robert A. Taft, Republican, voted for the bill, and Senator Vic Donahey, Democrat, against it.

ALLIES: British Rejoice As Sale Of Arms By America Nears

(By United Press)

LONDON—Britons rejoiced today at the passage of the neutrality bill by the United States senate. They looked forward to its early passage by the house and dramatic efforts to get American made airplanes to Britain and France past German submarines and warships.

Government quarters would make no comment regarding the senate action. They held that the neutrality bill was a strictly internal matter of United States interest. But nobody pretended not to be pleased.

The passage came too late for morning newspaper comment, but headlines were eloquent:

"Good Morning! Good News! Britain Will Get Arms From the U. S. A.," proclaimed the Daily Herald.

"Roosevelt Triumphs Over Arms Embargo," said the Daily Mail.

"Bill May Become Law In a Week," said the New Chronicle.

"U. S. to Sell Arms to Allies; Big Roosevelt Victory Means 300 Planes May Leave Next Week," said the Daily Express.

"America Will Send $450,000,000 Air Fleet," said the Daily Sketch—a reference to the amount of Allied airplane orders in the United States.

As Britons awaited house of representatives' action on the bill, they thought also of Germany's possible retort to it—an already threatened knockout attempt by means of merciless aerial bombardment and submarine warfare.

NAZIS: Hint At Fast K. O. To Offset U. S. Embargo Move

BULLETIN

PARIS—(AP)—Systematic German battery fire of the most determined nature since the attacks of Oct. 16—possibly in preparation for a German push—were reported today along the entire front.

(By United Press)

BERLIN—Germany may intensify its war preparations in an attempt to strike an immediate knock-out blow at Great Britain before the revised American neutrality law can become effective, inspired Nazi sources intimated today.

The senate's passage of the bill was the second blow to the Nazis during one day. The first was the encyclical in which Pope Pius XII spoke strongly against the Nazi-Communist type of dictatorship.

Nazis said that it was unlikely there would be any immediate official comment on the neutrality bill because it still had to pass the house.

They said also that they had not been surprised by the senate action because they had known ever since the debate opened that it was a factor on which Germany must reckon.

Unofficially, however, the Nazis made no attempt to hide their displeasure at the prospect that the United States would soon be selling to the Allies arms which, though Germany could buy also, it could not get through the British blockade.

"This bill may cause us to hurry up," said one Nazi close to the foreign office in advancing the idea that Hitler might order an immediate ruthless war against Britain, hoping that by some means Germany would win a quick victory.

An inspired source, commenting on Pope Pius' encyclical, said that there had been no official statement regarding it because none was necessary.

BUCYRUS PLANS 'SCHOOL NIGHT'

Elementary Classes to Be In Session During Evening For Visitation by Parents.

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus grade schools are preparing now for annual night school to be held Thursday, when all grades in all buildings will hold a two-hour school period instead of the afternoon period for the benefit of parents and friends who are invited to attend the classes.

Last week the high school held night school and more than 600 parents and friends visited the various classes, all of which were in session.

Following the class work, a general assembly was held. The program included several numbers by the high school band, a welcome by Principal Edwin Gearhart and a talk on the proposed 3-mill school levy by Supt. D. C. Baer.

Group singing was also conducted by Edna Ulmer, music superviser.

KILLS YEGGMAN IN GUN FIGHT

Cleveland Policeman Kills Man As He Stands Over Safe.

CLEVELAND, O.—(AP)—Police killed an unidentified yeggman early today, shooting him as he stood in front of the safe in a garage.

Patrolman William Spring said the suspect dropped during an exchange of shots and died from a wound in his temple. A second man escaped.

Police were summoned to the garage by a mechanic returning from lunch who reported he saw a shadowy form.

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

I'M NOT PLAYIN' TRICKS ON YOU, BEAUTY— HONEST, I AIN'T— BUT I HEARD MR. STRINGBEAN SAY, BEFORE A BURRO KIN START TO BRAY HE STICKS HIS TAIL OUT STRAIGHT LIKE A PUMP HANDLE —
MR. BLACK THINKS YOU'RE A HOODOO — AN' THAT ANYONE WHO EVEN SEES YOU IS GONNA HAVE BAD LUCK — MR. BLACK SEZ IF HE EVER SEES YOU HE'LL SHOOT YOU DEAD — AN' HE AIN'T FOOLIN'—
I DON'T BLAME YOU FOR HOLLERIN' WHEN YOU FEEL LIKE IT — WHEN BIRDS FEEL LIKE SINGIN' THEY SING — AN' IF BURROS FEEL LIKE BRAYIN', LET 'EM BRAY — THIS IS A FREE COUNTRY —
DARRELL McCLURE
BUT MR. BLACK IS FUNNY — IF YOU DO SOMETHIN' HE DON'T LIKE — HE SHOOTS YOU DEAD NO MATTER WHO YOU ARE — SOME FOLKS TIE A STRING ON THEIR FINGER, SO THEY WON'T FORGET — BUT YOU AIN'T GOT NO FINGERS!
BLAST THIS LEG!! — STRETCHED OUT FLAT ON THE ROOF FOR AN HOUR YESTERDAY, WHILE SHERIFF GREYSON'S POSSE WAS SEARCHING THE HOUSE FOR US, MADE IT WORSE THAN EVER
STOP BEEFING — A SORE LEG IS BETTER THAN HANGING BY THE NECK FROM THE LIMB OF A COTTONWOOD TREE — YOU'LL BE ABLE TO TRAVEL IN A COUPLE OF DAYS
THAT'LL SUIT ME — I WANT TO GET BACK TO THE GANG'S HIDEOUT AND GET MY SHARE OF THE STAGE HOLDUP — I FELT MY SHARE OF THE LEAD — NOW I WANT TO FEEL MY SHARE OF THE GOLD
THE GOLD WON'T RUN AWAY —
DARRELL McCLURE
I FIGGER WITH ALL THIS SMUGGLING — HOLDUPS AND KILLINGS A GOING ON — FOLKS WILL BE THINKING MAYBE THIS COUNTY NEEDS A NEW SHERIFF
NOW, SHERIFF — NOBODY'S BLAMING YOU — FOLKS KNOW RED HARDIN'S GANG STRIKES AND VANISHES INTO THE HILLS WHERE THEY'D BE SAFE FROM AN ARMY OF LAMMEN
WELL, MEBBE — BUT THAT WOUNDED BANDIT NEVER REACHED THE HILLS OR THE BORDER — SOMEONE'S A-HIDING HIM — I AIM TO FIND OUT WHO THAT SOMEONE IS!!
— AN' WHEN THE SHERIFF WAS SEARCHIN' THE HOUSE HE TOLD MRS. BLACK ONE OF THE BANDITS WAS WOUNDED — MR. BLACK IS WOUNDED AN' HE WAS HIDING UP ON THE ROOF UNTIL THE SHERIFF WENT AWAY!
DARRELL McCLURE
YES, DEAR, SOMETHING IS QUEER ABOUT THE WAY MR. BLACK AND HIS FRIEND, STRINGBEAN, HIDE WHEN THEY SEE ANYONE APPROACHING THE HOUSE
WHEN THAT POOR OLD INDIAN STOPPED YESTERDAY FOR A DRINK OF WATER, MR. BLACK KEPT WATCHIN' HIM ALL THE TIME FROM BEHIND THE CURTAIN —
AN' MR. STRINGBEAN TOLD ME NOT TO EVER TELL NOBODY MR. BLACK IS WOUNDED — HE SEZ IF MR. BLACK'S FRIENDS EVER LEARNED HE WAS WOUNDED THEY'D ALL FEEL SORRY AN' COME TO VISIT HIM
DARRELL McCLURE
BUT MR. BLACK DON'T LIKE VISITORS — HIS DOCTOR SEZ HE MUST HAVE REST AN' PEACE AN' IF ANY VISITORS COME BRINGIN' FLOWERS AN' CANDY — MR. BLACK WILL GET MAD — AN' SHOOT 'EM
A TENDERFOOT MIGHT THINK A DESERT'S NOTHIN' EXCEPT SAND AN' DANGER — BUT WHEN YOU GET TO KNOW THE DESERT YOU SORTA CHANGE YOUR MIND
NOW YOU JUST LET THAT EMPTY CUP STAY THERE AN' WE'LL GO TAKE A LOOK AT THAT EMPTY CUP WE LEFT IN THE OTHER CACTUS
GLORYOSKY — THE CUP IS FULL OF MILK —
NOT MILK, ANNIE — THAT'S CACTUS JUICE — SAVED MANY A DESERT TRAVELER FROM DYING OF THIRST — FRESH — A CHILD CAN DRINK IT — LET IT FERMENT AND IT CHANGES TO LIQUID DYNAMITE
DARRELL McCLURE
GEE — IT MUST BE MAGIC — A CACTUS PLANT THAT GIVES MILK AN' HAS "HORNS" — IT'S JUST LIKE FINDING A COW GROWING IN THE DESERT
I LAUGH IF YOU LIKE — BUT I TELL YOU LAST NIGHT I DREAMPT ABOUT THE HANGMAN'S BURRO AND THAT MEANS BAD LUCK — I'M GETTING AWAY FROM HERE, PRONTO!!
WHEN I WOKE UP I COULD STILL HEAR THAT VARMINT BRAYING A DEATH WARNING
TALK SENSE! YOU MIGHT'VE HEARD SOME WILD BURRO OUT ON THE DESERT
YOUR LEG'S HEALING — IN A FEW DAYS WE —
YOU KIN STAY IF YOU LIKE — I'M PACKING MY SADDLE-ROLL!
MR. BLACK SEZ HE DREAMPT HE HEARD YOU HOLLERING LAST NIGHT, BUT I HEARD YO!! — AN' I WASN'T DREAMING — SO I JUST GOTTA TIE THIS BIG ROCK TO YOUR TAIL TO SAVE YOUR LIFE!

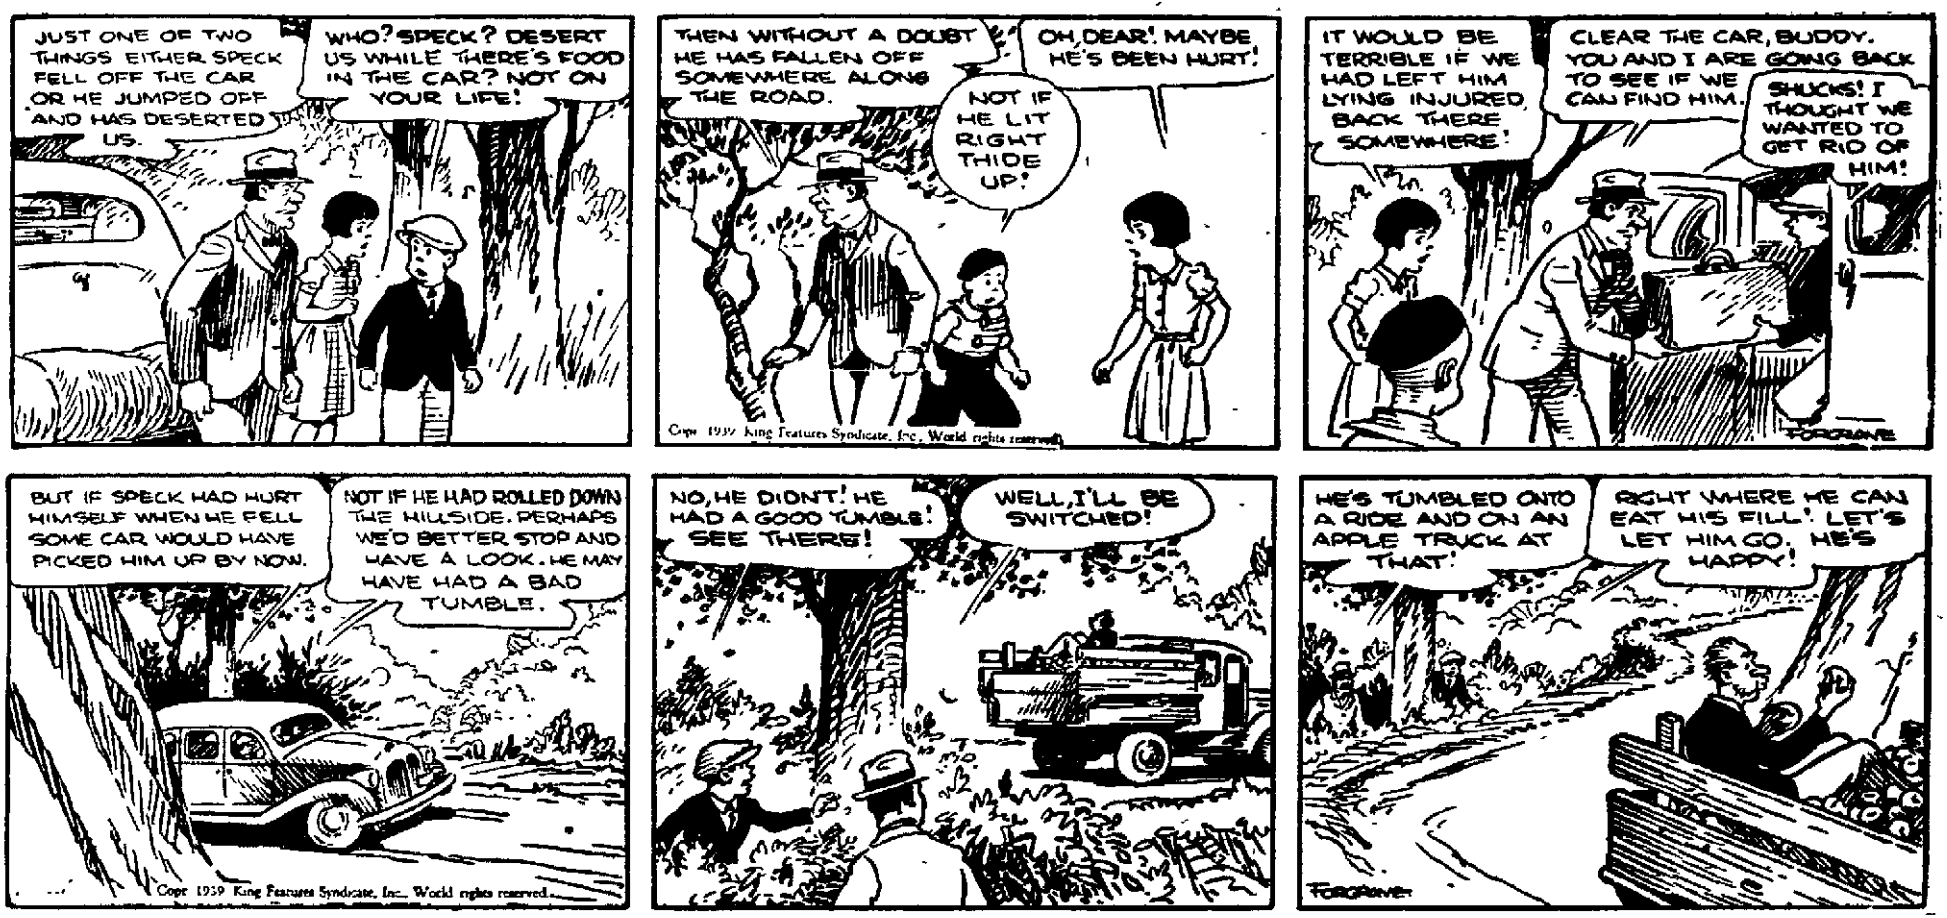
BIG SISTER



JUST ONE OF TWO THINGS EITHER SPECK FELL OFF THE CAR OR HE JUMPED OFF AND HAS DESERTED US.
WHO? SPECK? DESERT US WHILE THERE'S FOOD IN THE CAR? NOT ON YOUR LIFE!
THEN WITHOUT A DOUBT HE HAS FALLEN OFF SOMEWHERE ALONG THE ROAD.
OH, DEAR! MAYBE HE'S BEEN HURT!
NOT IF HE LIT RIGHT THIDE UP!
Copr 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
IT WOULD BE TERRIBLE IF WE HAD LEFT HIM LYING INJURED, BACK THERE SOMEWHERE!
CLEAR THE CAR, BUDDY. YOU AND I ARE GOING BACK TO SEE IF WE CAN FIND HIM.
SHUCKS! I THOUGHT WE WANTED TO GET RID OF HIM!
FORGRAVE
BUT IF SPECK HAD HURT HIMSELF WHEN HE FELL SOME CAR WOULD HAVE PICKED HIM UP BY NOW.
NOT IF HE HAD ROLLED DOWN THE HILLSIDE. PERHAPS WE'D BETTER STOP AND HAVE A LOOK. HE MAY HAVE HAD A BAD TUMBLE.
Copr 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
NO, HE DIDN'T! HE HAD A GOOD TUMBLE! SEE THERE!
WELL, I'LL BE SWITCHED!
HE'S TUMBLED ONTO A RIDE AND ON AN APPLE TRUCK AT THAT!
RIGHT WHERE HE CAN EAT HIS FILL! LET'S LET HIM GO. HE'S HAPPY!
FORGRAVE
THIS IS YOUR LAST DAY FOR LOOKING LIKE A WILD MAN. FOR PITY'S SAKE, HOLD STILL!
IT'S CITY CLOTHES FOR US FROM NOW ON. OUR NEXT STOP IS THE CITY!
NOT THO HARD! NOT THO HARD, I TELL YA!
THIS IS GOING TO BE A BUSY DAY. WE HAVE A LOT OF THINGS TO ATTEND TO.
BEFORE WE DO ANYTHING ELSE WE MUST FIND A PLACE TO LIVE.
Copr 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
EXACTLY! WE COULD GO TO A HOTEL, BUT THAT'D HIT MY POCKET BOOK A BIT TOO HARD.
NO, WE MUST FIND A HOUSE, A SMALL ONE. THANK GOODNESS WE'VE GOTTEN RID OF SPECK AT LAST!
FORGRAVE
GOODNESS, BUDDY! WHAT A JOB IT IS TO FIND A HOUSE THAT WILL FIT OUR PURSE
IT'S THE SAME OLD TROUBLE WE'VE HAD BEFORE. THEY'RE EITHER TOO BIG OR NOT FURNISHED, OR SOMETHING.
10-26
Copr 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
THE ONLY LUCK WE'VE HAD IS TO GET RID OF SPECK. WITHOUT HIM A SMALL HOUSE WILL DO
OH, OH! GET DOWN HERE, QUICK!
DEY'RE SOMEERS IN DIS TOWN, DAT'S SURE, 'CAUSE UNCLE MARTIN SAID DEY WERE STOPPIN' HERE. YOU'D T'INK DEY'D MAKE SOME EFFORT TO FIND ME
10-27
I'VE GOT TO EAT, SAME AS ANYBODY ELSE! DEY OUGHT TO KNOW DAT! DEN I DON'T WANT TO LOSE 'EM, 'CAUSE DEY MIGHT SELL DAT MINE.
Copr. 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
DEN, BOY! WE'LL ALL BE IN CLOVER! NO, SIR! I DON'T GIVE UP TILL I FIND 'EM!
WE'VE FOUND HOUSE-HUNTING A HARD JOB OTHER TIMES, BUT NOTHING LIKE THIS.
I NEVER DID SEE THE LIKE! WE'VE TRAMPED THE TOWN OVER AND HAVEN'T FOUND A THING.
10-28
I'M DOG TIRED! IF I DON'T SIT DOWN FOR A MINUTE I'LL PASS RIGHT OUT.
AND, BOY! COULD I USE A NICE COOL DRINK OF WATER! I'M PERISHING!
Copr. 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
WELL, NOW, I CAN'T HAVE SUCH A THING AS THAT HAPPEN RIGHT AT MY DOOR. IF YOU'LL JUST STEP INSIDE A MINUTE I THINK WE CAN PREVENT ANY SUCH A CALAMITY!

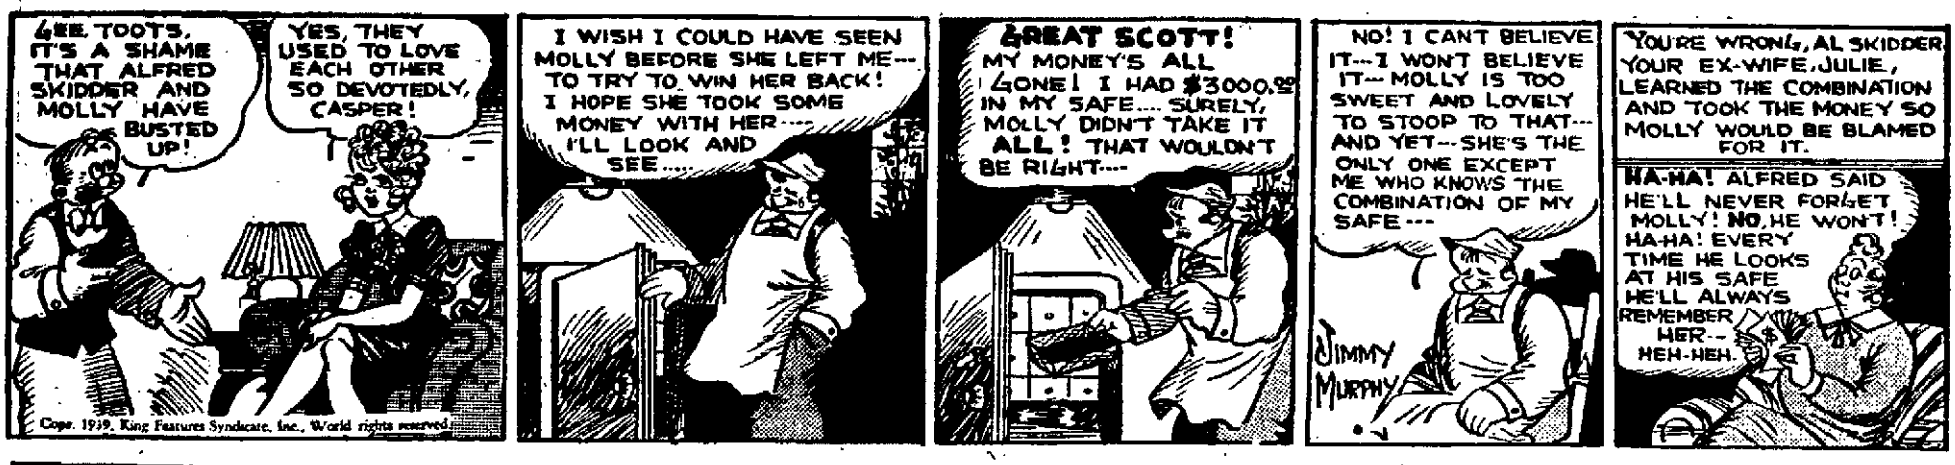
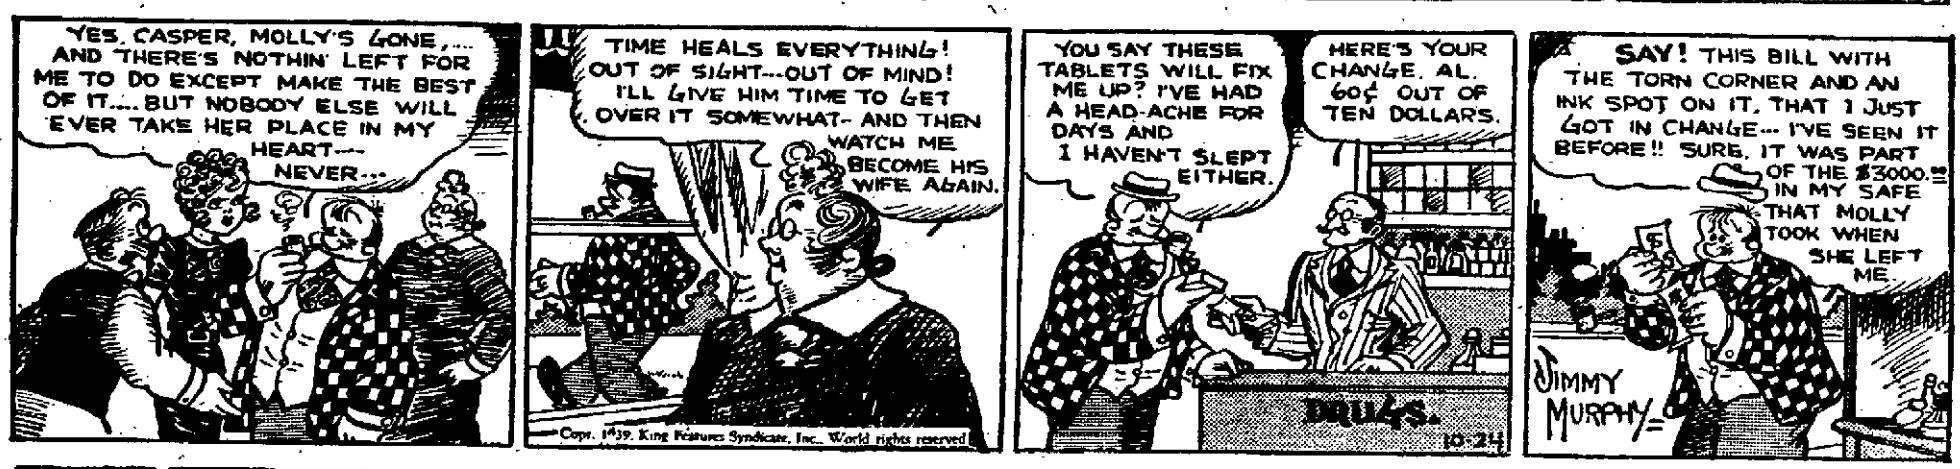
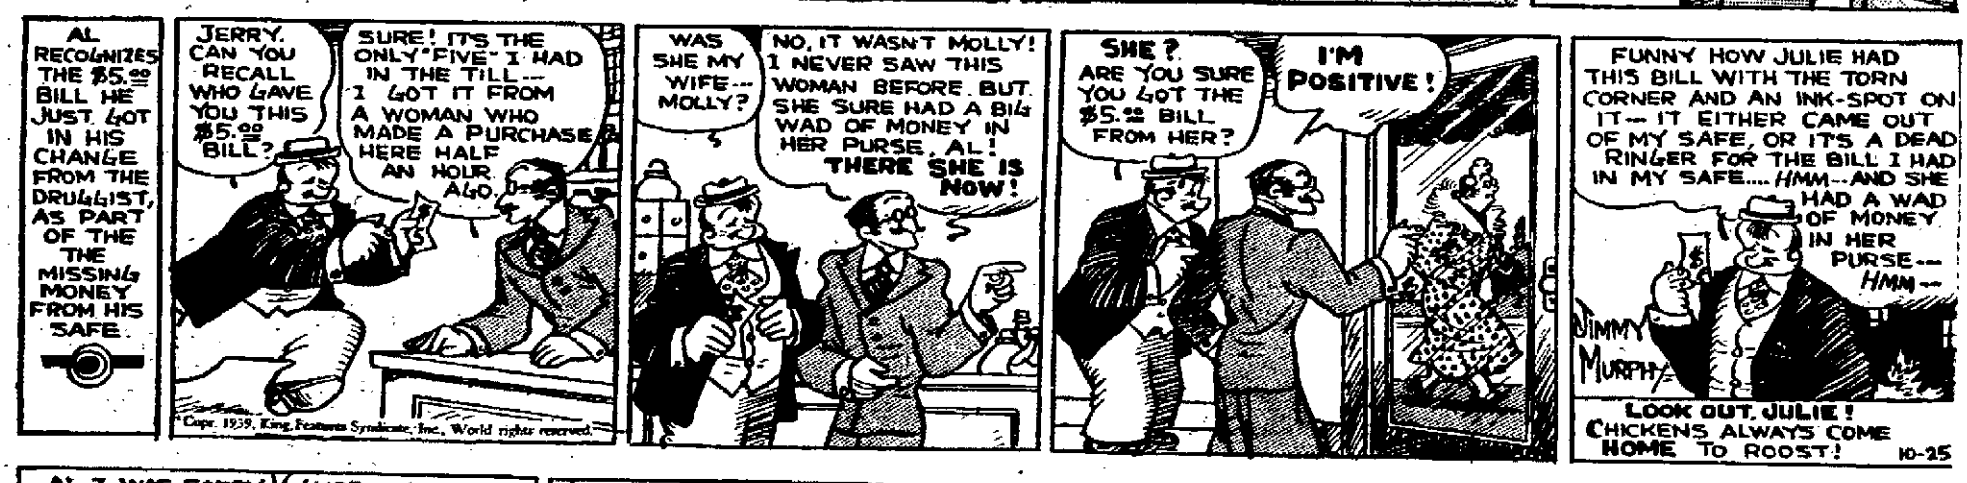
TOOTS AND CASPER



GEE TOOTS, IT'S A SHAME THAT ALFRED SKIDDER AND MOLLY HAVE BUSTED UP!
YES, THEY USED TO LOVE EACH OTHER SO DEVOTEDLY, CASPER!
Copr. 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
I WISH I COULD HAVE SEEN MOLLY BEFORE SHE LEFT ME--- TO TRY TO WIN HER BACK! I HOPE SHE TOOK SOME MONEY WITH HER---- I'LL LOOK AND SEE.....
GREAT SCOTT! MY MONEY'S ALL GONE! I HAD $3000.00 IN MY SAFE.... SURELY, MOLLY DIDN'T TAKE IT ALL! THAT WOULDN'T BE RIGHT----
NO! I CANT BELIEVE IT---I WON'T BELIEVE IT--- MOLLY IS TOO SWEET AND LOVELY TO STOOP TO THAT--- AND YET--SHE'S THE ONLY ONE EXCEPT ME WHO KNOWS THE COMBINATION OF MY SAFE---
JIMMY MURPHY
YOU'RE WRONG, AL SKIDDER. YOUR EX-WIFE, JULIE, LEARNED THE COMBINATION AND TOOK THE MONEY SO MOLLY WOULD BE BLAMED FOR IT.
HA-HA! ALFRED SAID HE'LL NEVER FORGET MOLLY! NO, HE WON'T! HA-HA! EVERY TIME HE LOOKS AT HIS SAFE HE'LL ALWAYS REMEMBER HER-- HEH-HEH.



YES, CASPER, MOLLY'S GONE,... AND THERE'S NOTHIN' LEFT FOR ME TO DO EXCEPT MAKE THE BEST OF IT.... BUT NOBODY ELSE WILL EVER TAKE HER PLACE IN MY HEART--- NEVER---
TIME HEALS EVERYTHING! OUT OF SIGHT---OUT OF MIND! I'LL GIVE HIM TIME TO GET OVER IT SOMEWHAT- AND THEN WATCH ME BECOME HIS WIFE AGAIN.
Copr. 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
YOU SAY THESE TABLETS WILL FIX ME UP? I'VE HAD A HEAD-ACHE FOR DAYS AND I HAVEN'T SLEPT EITHER.
HERE'S YOUR CHANGE, AL. 60¢ OUT OF TEN DOLLARS.
DRUGS.
10-24
SAY! THIS BILL WITH THE TORN CORNER AND AN INK SPOT ON IT, THAT I JUST GOT IN CHANGE--- I'VE SEEN IT BEFORE!! SURE, IT WAS PART OF THE $3000.00 IN MY SAFE THAT MOLLY TOOK WHEN SHE LEFT ME.
JIMMY MURPHY



AL RECOGNIZES THE $5.00 BILL HE JUST GOT IN HIS CHANGE FROM THE DRUGGIST, AS PART OF THE THE MISSING MONEY FROM HIS SAFE.
JERRY, CAN YOU RECALL WHO GAVE YOU THIS $5.00 BILL?
SURE! IT'S THE ONLY "FIVE" I HAD IN THE TILL--- I GOT IT FROM A WOMAN WHO MADE A PURCHASE HERE HALF AN HOUR AGO.
Copr. 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
WAS SHE MY WIFE--- MOLLY?
NO, IT WASN'T MOLLY! I NEVER SAW THIS WOMAN BEFORE. BUT SHE SURE HAD A BIG WAD OF MONEY IN HER PURSE, AL! THERE SHE IS NOW!
SHE? ARE YOU SURE YOU GOT THE $5.00 BILL FROM HER?
I'M POSITIVE!
FUNNY HOW JULIE HAD THIS BILL WITH THE TORN CORNER AND AN INK-SPOT ON IT--- IT EITHER CAME OUT OF MY SAFE, OR IT'S A DEAD RINGER FOR THE BILL I HAD IN MY SAFE.... HMM--AND SHE HAD A WAD OF MONEY IN HER PURSE--- HMM---
JIMMY MURPHY
LOOK OUT, JULIE! CHICKENS ALWAYS COME HOME TO ROOST!
10-25

AL, I WAS SORRY TO HEAR THAT YOU AND MOLLY HAVE BUSTED UP!
GUESS I DON'T RATE VERY HIGH WHEN SHE NEVER WROTE ME A LINE SINCE SHE LEFT TO VISIT HER FOLKS.
Copr. 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
WHY, SHE WROTE YOU EVERY DAY. TO CASPER'S HOUSE! I DELIVERED THE LETTERS, MYSELF!
YOU MEAN YOU MAILED LETTERS EVERY DAY FROM ME TO HER....
SHE WROTE YOU EVERY DAY, BUT I NEVER SAW ANY LETTERS THAT YOU WROTE HER-- YOU MEAN YOU NEVER SAW THE LETTERS I PUT IN CASPER'S MAIL BOX FOR YOU TO MAIL?
SUMP'N FUNNY HERE! IT'S SERIOUS BUSINESS MONKEYING WITH MY MAIL--- TOOTS AND CASPER WOULDN'T TOUCH IT-- BUT THERE'S JULIE---HMM--- I WONDER IF SHE---.
JIMMY MURPHY
AHH, THE MAILMAN JUST CAME--- I'LL LOOK TO SEE WHAT HE BROUGHT---
Copr. 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
YES, HERE'S A LETTER FROM MOLLY FOR ALFRED! I'LL DESTROY IT IMMEDIATELY! SHE MIGHT SPILL THE BEANS THAT SHE'S WRITTEN HIM BEFORE AND OFTEN!
INTO THE FIRE IT GOES--- LIKE ALL OF HER OTHER LETTERS TO HIM--- AND HIS TO HER! HA-HA!
UP TO YOUR OLD TRICKS, EH, JULIE? MOLLY DIDN'T WRITE THAT LETTER! I DID! I MIMICKED HER HAND-WRITING TO TRAP YOU! JULIE, A GNAT IS SMALL, BUT YOU'RE A WHOLE LOT SMALLER.
JIMMY MURPHY
MY, JULIE FINALLY ADMITTED THAT SHE DESTROYED ALL THE LETTERS YOU AND MOLLY WROTE TO EACH OTHER.
SHE ALSO ADMITTED TAKING $4900.00 OUT OF MY SAFE SO MOLLY'D GET BLAMED FOR IT, BUT I GOT MOST OF THE MONEY BACK.
Copr. 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
MOLLY AND I ARE TOO SENSITIVE! WE'RE BOTH TOO TOUCHY! NOT HEARING FROM HER I THOUGHT SHE WAS THROUGH WITH ME --- AND I'LL BET WHEN SHE NEVER HEARD FROM ME SHE LEFT ME THINKING I DIDN'T LOVE HER---
I DON'T KNOW WHERE MOLLY WENT, BUT I'LL FIND HER IF I HAVE TO TURN THE WORLD INSIDE OUT! WE WERE MEANT FOR EACH OTHER AND NO JULIE OR ANYBODY ELSE IS GOING TO KEEP US APART....
10-28
OFCOURSE, JULIE IMMEDIATELY LEAVES CASPERS HOUSE.... SHE HAS NO OTHER ALTERNATIVE AFTER SO FLAGRANTLY VIOLATING HIS HOSPITALITY
AL AND MOLLY. A PLAGUE TO THEM BOTH! I SPLIT 'EM UP, ANYWAY, AND I HOPE THEY REMAIN SPLIT UP!

Teachers Demand 'Social Freedom,' Right to Marry

GROUP BACKS STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Oppose Bigelow Pension Plan At Cleveland Meeting; Elect New Oficers.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — A resolution asking for "freedom of teachers in social life, including freedom to marry," today carried the approval of the Northeastern Ohio Teachers association.

The NEOTA session here was one of a series of meetings held in the state yesterday. Others were at Cincinnati, Cambridge, Athens, Toledo and Dayton.

The resolution also advocated "further support of legislation in favor of tenure of office in Ohio."

Other proposals voted by the group here urged support of a proposed amendment establishing a state board of education, opposed the Bigelow amendments and condemned "any and all subversive influences at home and abroad which in any way endanger our peaceful status."

Want Arms Embargo.

Carl Coffeen, Summit county superintendent, was elected president of the NEOTA; Dale R. Rice, of Mentor, vice president; Ellen Campbell of Ashland, recording secretary, and Robert L. Fleming of Youngstown, and Alma Zinninger of Canton, executive committee members.

In Toledo, the Northwestern Ohio teachers voted "unalterable opposition" to the lifting of the arms embargo, opposed the Bigelow plan and condemned "isms."

At the Cambridge session, Dr. Morris Fishbein, of Chicago, editor of the American Medical association, criticized the federal government for "endeavoring to engraft on the American people a system of compulsory sickness insurance" through legislation and asserted that such a step would result in destruction of initiative and deterioration in the quality of medical service.

The Dayton group scheduled a vote of resolutions today after electing Kenneth West, of Mount Vernon, president.

Calls Bigelow Plan Threat to Americanism

Up and Down THE STREET

Little wonder that Mansfielders who saw "Babes In Arms" this week failed to remember the little blond June Preisser who played the baby movie star as one of the child stars who played at the Madison theater more than ten years ago. She was in the revue with Wesley Barry and other Hollywood starlets. At that time she was Baby Rose of the Our Gang comedies and was small and had dark curls, according to Dr. Otto Hohendorf, who had several notes from her after she left here. Since then she has been a Follies dancer and had her first important movie roles since she had grown up in "Babes In Arms".

* * *

The News-Journal isn't the only place in Mansfield that has been flooded with telephone calls during the past two days concerning the arrival of Admiral Byrd's Antarctic snow cruiser. State highway patrolmen have had their share too, but the climax came at 2 a. m. today when they were awakened by the telephone call of an inebriated gentleman who wanted to know "whershe 'at snow crooser at." They politely (?) informed him that it would probably arrive here sometime Sunday.

* * *

Yesterday's deluge in addition to flooding city streets, put many automobiles parked in the downtown area out of commission. One motorist who had his car parked on North Mulberry street during the downpour, reported that the high water had washed leaves over his engine and he had to wait until last night before he could get it started.

* * *

J. Russell Murphy, former Mansfield high grid coach, now backfield coach and chief scout at Cornell university, and one of his prize proteges, Johnny Hallabrin, Ohio State sophomore star were both thinking in terms of victory today, but for rival teams. Today's Ohio-Cornell game marked the first time Murphy had been on the opposite side of one of his former players. In addition to getting his pictures in the Columbus papers, Murphy was in demand for interviews. Conceding Ohio's greatness, Murphy figured Cornell would offer the Bucks "plenty of trouble."

TAKES OFFICE

Hageman Installed as Head of Disabled Veterans Here.

Virgil C. Hageman, 151 Harker street, newly elected commander of the Mansfield chapter of the Disabled Veterans of the World war was installed at a meeting this week at the Memorial building. He succeeds Jacob L. Graves, who has headed the chapter for the past two years.

Other officers installed were James Brownscombe, senior vice commander; Howard L. Kissel, junior vice commander; Walter H. Farr, adjutant and service officer, and Grover C. Davis, chaplain.

Hageman announced that the chapter will launch its annual Forget-Me Not drive for raising funds for the rehabilitation of disabled veterans and their dependents in the next few weeks.

REFEREE SETS HEARING DATE

Petition Opposing Wickersham Bankruptcy Order to Be Reviewed Nov. 3.

Hearing on a petition to set aside a bankruptcy order against the Wickersham Printing company, Mansfield, had been set for Friday, Nov. 3, at the courthouse.

The date was fixed by William C. Beer, Bucyrus, referee in bankruptcy, who continued indefinitely a hearing at which creditors of the company will prove their claims and select a referee. The creditors' hearing was scheduled for yesterday afternoon.

The motion to set aside the bankruptcy order was filed by Atty. Van C. Cook, representing the Walpark Realty company, owners of the building occupied by the printing firm.

The realty company contends that two shares of stock in the firm were transferred to Attys. Charles Freehafer and R. W. Stephenson without probate court authority. Both attorneys were later made directors of the firm and then requested that it be declared bankrupt, the petition states.

Orrin A. June of Lima, son-in-law of the late Frank Wickersham, founder of the company, is administrator of the Wickersham estate. His wife, Mrs. Rachel June, recently was made president of the firm following the resignation of Philip Wolfe.

Atty. Charles Spreng of Mansfield, appointed receiver two weeks ago, was continued in that capacity yesterday until the bankruptcy dispute is settled.

BOY WINS FIRST MEDAL IN WAR

Gets French Croix de Guerre For Capture of German Pilot.

PARIS —(AP)— Ritter Philippe, 17-year-old Alsace farm boy, is the first civilian to receive the Croix de Guerre in this war.

French dispatches said the boy was working in a field when a German pilot landed his plane nearby, threatened Ritter with drawn revolver and demanded, "where am I?"

"In France," Ritter blurted.

Ignoring the revolver, he fled to his bicycle and notified a French patrol, which arrested the pilot.

A Farmer's Diary

Why Worry?

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I HAVE often passed a tree in my neighbor's woods, the top of which is broken off 50 feet above the ground. From the lofty top I hear the blue jay's scream and from that same broken snag the flicker's vacant laughter echoes through the woods. In the part that lays upon the ground, squirrels have made their home.

Even some large branches had hollow centers. When I pounded on the trunk as high as I could reach, it sounded like a drum.

Down between two prominent roots I saw an opening which looked smooth around the edges. One day in passing I noticed a few strands of gray fur, but yesterday, a few inches to one side, I saw two small, woolly feathers. I picked them up and judged they had belonged to a hawk or owl.

The leafy surface near the entrance could not show the imprint of any track, so I pondered the evidence I had in hand. The hole was large enough to slip my hand inside, but one other time, when I had equally strong suspicions of finding sleeping wild folk at home, my fingers were bitten, and when the awakened animal scurried forth I was not permitted near the house for some time.

There was a risk, but I found it too tempting to resist, so I poked my fingers in a little way and felt about. The finger ends touched feathers that moved slightly. I went in farther and caught hold of wing and back and drew him out. It was an owl, with barred feather across his back and soft ones beneath. Within his claws were bits of dark gray fur. He blinked wearily in the light, and seemed more drowsy than surprised.

Some other animal was inside there, held captive by that owl. I reached in again, with more assurance. My fingers this time found the rough fur of an animal and when I clutched him and drew him out there was agrinning possum, half awake. He was in no hurry. When I let him go, he waddled leisurely back into his den.

The owl bore evidence that his drowsy prey would make a tasty meal when evening came—but the possum would rather sleep than worry.

SECOND SUIT

Shelby Man Asks $5,000 For Wife's Injuries.

A second damage suit resulting from an accident last October in a Shelby apartment had been filed today in common pleas court against George W. Hoffman, the owner.

L. D. Gore, Shelby, brought an action for $5,000 for injuries received by his wife, Mrs. Alice Gore, when she fell on the basement stairway in their apartment. Gore seeks the damages for the loss of his wife's "services, earnings and companionship."

He contends that Hoffman intentionally removed a light bulb from over the apartment basement stairway in an "attempt to get the plaintiff to terminate his lease."

Mrs. Gore had previously filed an action for $15,000 against Hoffman. Both plaintiffs are represented by Attys. H. M. Rust and C. F. Creedman of Mansfield.

TWO KILLED BY AUTOS.

TOLEDO —(AP)—Two traffic deaths were reported here today. Wilhelm Greiner, 65, was killed when struck by an automobile on route 20, near here. Edward Spayth, 70, was killed when hit by an automobile in Wood county near the Lucas county line.

MISS STRAUB, 83, TAKEN BY DEATH

Washington Township Resident Stricken Here at Kin's Home.

Miss Louise Straub, 83, a lifelong resident of Washington township, died Friday night at the home of her brother, Daniel Straub, 119 Lexington avenue, following a lingering illness.

Born Sept. 29, 1856 in Washington township, Miss Straub spent her entire life on the farm on which she was born. She is survived by two brothers, Peter at home and Daniel.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Monday at St. Peter's Catholic church with Msgr. R. C. Goebel officiating. Burial will be in the Catholic cemetery. The body will remain at the home of her brother on Lexington avenue until time of services.

LEAGUE SEES PLAN ABOLISH TAX LIMITS

Says Movement Would Remove All Incentives For Good U. S. Citizenship.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — The Tax Limitation League, Inc., contended today that passage of the proposed Bigelow $50-a-month old age pension amendment would undo the benefits of the adoption of the 10-mill limitation on real estate taxation.

Addressing itself to the supporters of the 10-mill limitation, the tax league declared the Bigelow plan is "unquestionably the greatest assault that has been made against the limitation amendment" and said it "must by all means be defeated."

The attack on the Bigelow proposals was signed by L. D. Jennings of Lima, president of the tax league, which played an important part in backing the tax limitation amendment.

Under the Bigelow plan, the tax league said:

"It is quite obvious that the indolent would become more indolent, the shiftless more shiftless, the wastrel more wasteful, the drunkard more indulgent than ever. These are the reasons most people are unable to support themselves at the age of 60.

Called "Last Step."

"Our federal and state government have gone a long way, up to this time, to remove the incentive for good citizenship by their paternalistic attitude, but the Bigelow amendment would be the last step in this direction.

"This paternalistic philosophy on the part of all branches of our government must be stopped or Americanism as it is known today will cease to exist.

The Bigelow plan is dangerous because in will pyramid the old age relief load and make it impossible for the state to give reasonable support to the aged who are really worthy.

"The Bigelow plan is not moral because it seeks to take from those that which they cannot afford to lose and gives to others that which their conduct in life does not warrant.

"We are now overburdened with plans and schemes promoted by both state and federal governments. The aged and worthy in most cases are fairly well taken care of and to do more at this time is indulgence that borders on bad ethics."

QUESTION TWO

Police Hold Pair As Women Report Purse Snatchings.

Two colored youths who told police they lived in Toledo were being questioned today in connection with two purse snatchings which occurred within two hours last night.

Officers said they arrested the pair on East Sixth street, at 2 a. m. today after two women reported that two colored youths had grabbed their purses containing small amounts of change.

Police were first called at 10 p. m. by Mrs. Frank Russell, 537 North Mulberry street, who said the pair grabbed her purse containing $2, while she was walking on Orchard street.

Shortly after midnight officers were called by Mrs. Arvilla Boals, 48½ Park avenue west, who reported that a pair of youths, answering the same description, grabbed her purse containing $1.50 while she was walking on North Main street, near Sixth.

Not That It Matters

Oh, For An Issue Or Two To Liven Up the Municipal Campaign, Now So Quiet

—By JANE WILLIAMS

THE MANSFIELD political picture has been calmer than a Jean Corot landscape these few weeks before election and while these dignified, conservative campaigns are easy on the nerves, they lack something.

Mr. Locke talks of a traffic plan and Mr. Hunter points to his record—and nobody gets mad and there's no fireworks. Very disappointing, that's what it is. That's what comes of having two normal, well-balanced men opposing each other.

Martin L. Davey may have been a heller in operating state affairs but he could be depended on for a lot of good dirty fun in a campaign; lusty fighting and earthy name-calling.

* * *

BUT WHILE these quiet campaigns are easier on public nerves—they have their danger points The greatest is that they lull the sense of civic responsibility that isn't too deep in any of us, any time; and too many voters are apt to stay away from the polls.

Which is just what proponents of the Bigelow plans hope will happen. If they can get out all of their people and enough of the opponents of the plans stay away from the polls, the two proposed amendments to the state constitution will pass.

There is nothing to bring the farm and rural voters to the polls a week from Tuesday except township elections—and the Bigelow proposals. Which is another bad omen for those who are fighting them. Scattered as it is the farm vote is very often a deciding factor, and those who know the situation believe that farmers, who are excluded from the Bigelow pension plan, could defeat it, if they would turn out on election day.

* * *

DORIS FLEESON, the only woman who heads a metropolitan press bureau in Washington, D. C., and who addressed Ohio newspaper women at their annual convention last week end in Dayton, gave us a new slant on why the announcement of the presidential third term is being held up.

"It's because there are two powerful men in Washington who are equally determined to be the Democratic candidate next year," she said. "One is Franklin Roosevelt and the other is James Farley, and both are determined that the other shall not be a candidate."

If true, we should have Fourth of July all next year.

* * *

A LOT of Mansfield femmes will envy the lot of the Boxer pup which Louis Bromfield will take to Hollywood with him next month, for it is to be a pet for the Great God Gable.

When Bromfield leaves Malabar farm for the California Gold Coast he will have a Boxer pup in each pocket—well, figuratively, anyway—one for Clark Gable who dotes on big dogs, and one for Kay Francis who took a fancy to Rex, the Boxer's poppa, when she was at Malabar last summer.

THERE is no thrill in the world" writes a paragrapher "to equal that of gathering hickory nuts and hulling them under the tree"

Does the paragrapher know anything about the thrill that comes when you miss the shell with the hammer and hit your thumb instead? Now THERE'S a thrill, mister.

Paragraphers have a way of writing in the fall of things that make you homesick for dear, dead years, and when one of them this week wrote of fresh sorghum and hot biscuits, I suddenly decided that I'd rather have a quart of sorghum, with its sugary, crusty top, than a gallon of caviar.

But do Richland county farmers raise sorghum? They'll probably refer me to the nearest grocery store—which isn't the kind I want. Any Old Timer will understand my nostalgia for sorghum molasses.

ON THE Western Front: The president and the First Lady are showing too much partiality for the Allies; he goes to a church where the Canadian minister prays for the king of England, and Mrs. Roosevelt has gone in for those Paris wasp waist corsets. Those Paris corsets, we admit grimly, was the one reason we felt the United States should go to Hitler's aid. . . . We won't learn much from the war—we didn't learn much from the World war—but it may be that some of us will be enabled to learn the correct pronunciation of Goebbels and Goering. Some folks say it's Gobels and Goring, some say Gubbles and Guring, others Gebbles, etc., but from our slight memories of first year German, we thought it was Gables and Gayring. Anyway we've learned that "blitzkrieg" means K. O.-ing the other fellow while he's still talking to the referee.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Thanks For Favors, But There Are a Few Things In Nevada Not Quite So Nice

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

RENO, Nev.—Inasmuch as the mayor took me for a ride in the mountains, the lieutenant governor bought me a drink, the Chamber of Commerce gave me a lot of booklets and a deputy warden showed me the lethal chamber at the prison and a man condemned to die about Thanksgiving, I feel an obligation of courtesy to say that the air here is bracing and the sunshine glorious on the golden autumn trees and that the moral conditions apparently are as sanitary as those of any other city of equal size.

* * *

The lieutenant governor, Mr. Sullivan, is a lawyer who deals in divorce and holds that counsel in this line sometimes prevent grevious crime and save life, citing remarks by distraught ladies that if they couldn't divorce their husbands they would shoot their way out of wedlock.

I was received, too, with distinguished courtesy by the governor, Mr. Carvill, who has fortunately escaped the somber duty of deciding whether the man in the death house might live in prison or die by gas.

A gambling house dealer, this victim of his own rage met his estranged wife attended by another man at a country dance, killed her and two others, affirmed that he had only done something which required doing, and, when offered a chance to spend the rest of his life in prison, elected to die.

He thus spared Governor Carvill the most painful trial of soul that befalls a man in American public life short of the duty to vote for or against war in Congress, and earned the awe of men less stanch.

* * *

This civility disposed of, I proceed to report that Nevada has developed a unique practice, in part a sly and cynical racket but not altogether so. Nevada solicits the divorce business of those who must divorce, brazenly invites Californians up to evade—and substantially violate—the requirements of the marriage laws of their own state, and even more boldly tempts Californians and others to establish legal but fictitious residence within her borders to escape paying their taxes.

* * *

It is known, of course, that Nevada, under pressure of competition, dropped from six months to six weeks the period required for the establishment of a legal residence sufficient for the purposes of divorce.

There is a pretense that this was done merely for her own convenience, but the insincerity of that is apparent in the fact that in Reno alone, a city with a fairly static population of about 20,000 of all ages, there have been 26,152 divorces in a little less than nine years.

As a sop to her conscience and a pin to hold up her self-respect Nevada insists that, conceding everything, her laws of convenience and subterfuge are nevertheless a redress of impositions on the individual by the laws of other states. There is something to that, although Nevada's motives are not samaritan.

The wisdom of California's gin-marriage law may be challenged, but the blood test was adopted to protect innocents, particularly babies.

That Nevada, having no such social and hygienic qualms, would attract a few elopers was to be expected, but the community could be in better business than that of enticing thousands of persons whose very preference for Nevada, under the circumstances, invites suspicion.

In fact, the suspicion is the subject of so much ribald wit, not only in Reno but in California, that it may presently embarrass the marriage racket to death.

UNITE IN 6TH REFORMATION RALLY SUNDAY

Lutherans of Four Counties To Hold Annual Service At Mansfield Church.

Congregations from 30 United Lutheran churches in Richland and three nearby counties will unite for their sixth annual Reformation rally at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow at First Lutheran church.

Dr. Abdel Ross Wentz, president-elect of the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Gettysburg, Pa., will be the principal speaker. His subject will be "Freedom Must Be Born Again."

Assisting ministers are Rev. O. S. Goerner, assistant pastor of the First church; Rev. C. B. A. Stacy of Mt. Zion; Rev. H. H. Lentz of Ashland; Rev. J. David Mumford of Bucyrus; Rev. R. C. Wolf of Plymouth; Dr. H. S. Garns, St. Luke's Lutheran church, Mansfield, and Rev. G. M. Schrack of Perrysville.

Dr. Wentz, a prominent lecturer and preacher, has studied in Europe and travelled extensively throughout the world. He was one of the American Lutheran representatives who attended the world-wide Madras Missionary conference in India in 1938, and has published seven books on various phases of this department.

Plan Special Music.

Music for this service will be presented by the choir and organist of St. Paul Lutheran church, Bucyrus.

The rallies are sponsored annually by the Lutheran Ministers association of the Mansfield district. Officers are Rev. J. M. O'Morrow, Bellville, president and Rev. C. B. A. Stacy, Mt. Zion, secretary-treasurer. Arrangements this year are in charge of Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of the First church, Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor of St. Paul church, Rev. R. N. Miller of Tiro and Rev. Richard Wolf of Plymouth.

A memorial service for deceased parents of present members of St. Paul church will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow. Rev. Gilbert, pastor, will speak on "The Joy of a Christian." Rev. Charles F. Sheriff, pastor of St. Matthew's church, will speak on "Is the Late Pope Still in Purgatory?"

Rev. Grover E. Swoyer will speak on "Christ and Human Relationships" at the 9:45 a. m. service at First Lutheran church. Meetings of the Intermediate and Senior Luther leagues are scheduled for 6:30 p. m.

HEAR OF 'PUNISHMENT'

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday. The Golden Text is: "Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye have transgressed; and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?"—(Ezekiel 18:31.)

Addresses Rally

IN FIFTH WEEK

21 Churches Continue Loyalty Program Tomorrow.

"Christ and Human Relationships" is the theme of the fifth week of the "Loyalty to Christ and Church" program which opens tomorrow in 21 Mansfield churches.

The program is sponsored by the Mansfield Ministerial association and will continue for seven more weeks.

A feature of the program are weekly meetings of ministers of co-operating churches at the First Presbyterian church, when one of the pastors presents his sermon which is then discussed by the group.

Those who have presented their sermons are Rev. David N. Roller, First Presbyterian church, Rev. J. E. Marshall, St. Mark's Lutheran church, Rev. E. G. Corwin, First Methodist church, and Rev. Hayes M. Braker, Park Avenue Baptist church.

CHURCH GROUP HEARS LAWYER

Neutrality Legislation Topic For Talk Before Round Table.

Atty. J. H. Gongwer will be guest speaker at the Young Adults Round Table Sunday at 9:30 a. m. at the First Congregational church.

"The Neutrality Legislation" will be the topic for discussion. Atty. Gongwer will present a study of the neutrality bill and answer questions.

Rev. Peter Young, pastor, will speak on "On Being Willing to Be Yourself" at the 10:45 a. m. church service. The Youth Fellowship will meet at 6:30 p. m. in the church library with Richard Burkholder as discussion leader.

SERMON ON CONVENTION

Basing his sermon subject on the recent International convention of the Christian church at Richmond, Va., Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, pastor of the First Christian church, will speak on "Riches From Richmond" at the 10:30 a. m. service.

wonder if Earl McFarland didn't have something to do with the picking?" he asked.

"Two years ago we had another insurance man for mayor and I'm wondering what kind of a policy Locke would like to write."

Scorning the promise to effect a reorganization of the city engineering department, Lutz asserted that "it is apparent that he has torn the front page off of Gov. Bricker's ripper legislation," explaining that the engineers were under civil service and that to reorganize the department he would have to ignore the civil service laws.

"Locke says he is going to "try" to solve the traffic problem," Lutz added, "but what is he going to do? Build garages or parking lots?

"If that is the program and it seems that is the only solution to the overcrowded conditions, then where is he going to get the money. By hiking the tax rate or by issuing bonds and letting the taxpayers foot the bill?"

Atty. Marshal C. Moore, president of the Young Democratic club who presided at the meeting, introduced 12 other candidates for munnicipal offices including Atty. George H. Blecker, candidate for municipal judge on the non-partisan ticket.

Republicans to Map Last Lap of Campaign.

With no rallies scheduled for the week-end. Republican candidates for municipal offices will meet tonight to plan the last lap of their campaign which is expected to keep them busy virtually every night until election.

William J. Locke, candidate for mayor, said he will outline his platform in detail at rallies next week, emphasizing his pledge to reorganize the city engineering department and remedy the traffic situation.

Asserting that the Democratic campaigners are "attempting to throw out a smoke screen for Mayor Claude M. Hunter by criticizing a former Republican administration," Locke, in a statement today asked the Democrats to "stick to the issues of this campaign."

"The present municipal campaign is being waged on the record of the present mayor, so let's keep it on that basis," Locke said.

The next G. O. P. rally is scheduled for Monday night at the Hedges school. At least four other meetings will be held next week in all parts of the city, party leaders said.

PLAYS CONCERT

19-Piece Bucyrus Group Presents Program at U. B. Church.

A concert of classical and sacred music will be presented at 8 p. m. Sunday at the First United Brethren church by the 19-piece Klopfenstein concert orchestra of Bucyrus. J. I. Klopfenstein, the director, formerly lived in Mansfield and was a member of the United Brethren church.

In addition to the orchestral numbers, Donald Cover will present an instrumental solo, and Miss Iola Cover will give a group of readings.

RETREAT ENDS

4-Day Services For Men Closes at St. Peter's Sunday Evening.

A men's retreat which got under way Wednesday evening at St. Peter's Catholic church will come to a close with solemn services at 7:30 p. m. Sunday. Msgr. R. C. Goebel, pastor, will preach the sermon.

Men of the parish will receive Holy Communion in a body at the 8 a. m. mass tomorrow.

LEGAL NOTICE

John Nottom and Frances Nottom, whose last known place of residence and address was Route 2, Clayton, Wisconsin, will take notice that on October 6, 1939, the undersigned filed his petition in The Common Pleas Court of Richland County, Ohio, alleging that the above named defendants have or claim to have an interest in the following described real estate:

Situated in the County of Richland, in the State of Ohio, and in the City of Mansfield and bounded and described as follows: Being lot number Thirty-seven Hundred and ninety-nine (3799) of the consecutive numberings of lnlots to the City of Mansfield, Ohio.

The undersigned further alleges that he and his predecessors in title have held the open, notorious, adverse, exclusive, continuous and actual possession of said premises for more than 21 years last past; that defendants, John Nottom and Frances Nottom, signed a quit-claim deed to plaintiff for such interest on or about May 13, 1939, but failed to appear before a Notary Public for acknowledgment of the signatures and did not have the same witnessed by two witnesses as required by law. Plaintiff has ever since sought to have this omission corrected, but with due diligence has been unable to find or contact said defendants, and that said deficiency is a cloud upon plaintiff's title to these premises.

The prayer of the petition is that the defendants and each of them may be lawfully notified of the pendency of this action and duly summoned to appear and answer herein, setting forth the nature and extent of their several claims in and to the real estate hereinbefore described; and that the Court may adjudge all of said claims to be illegal and void; that the plaintiff's title to all the premises above described may be quieted, and that the plaintiff may be found and adjudged to be the owner in fee simple of said premises and that the defendants, and each of them, and any and all persons claiming under them, may be forever enjoined and debarred from hereafter asserting any right, title, interest, claim or demand in, or to said premises or any part thereof, and for such other and further relief as is proper.

That the defendants are required to answer by November 18, 1939, and this cause will be for hearing on or any time thereafter.

BIGELOW PLAN MEANS RUIN

of OHIO'S SCHOOLS, WELFARE AGENCIES, HIGHWAY SYSTEM, LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

The Bigelow proposal pretends to guarantee a monthly income to all non-wage earners in Ohio who are over 60—$50 a month to single persons and $80 a month to married couples.

This will cost the State 310 million dollars a year. Two new taxes are set up in the proposal—a heavy income tax and a real estate tax that will catch even the small homes. But these two new burdensome taxes won't begin to pay the bill!

A Shortage of 170 to 260 Millions

That's more money than the State collects annually from all sources of revenue! But the Bigelow proposal guarantees to make the payments. In fact, it's a first mortgage on all State revenues—on every tax dollar the State collects!

Squeeze 50 Millions From Schools

To raise the gigantic shortage, schools will lose their State money—50 millions a year. Teachers probably will lose their jobs and schools will be closed. It will be a destructive blow to education throughout Ohio!

Raid Relief For 10 Millions

Remember, the Bigelow payments must be made before anything else is paid. Local relief agencies will suffer. Crippled, blind and dependent children will lose benefits. State aid will be cut off and local governments will have to levy staggering new taxes!

Seize 31 Millions From Highways

Look at the "Stop" signs you meet on the highways—they'll have a different meaning! The Bigelow plan will stop highway building all over the state. 31 millions of dollars now going to cities, counties and townships from gasoline and motor vehicle taxes will be stopped to guarantee Bigelow plan payments.

State Government Will Be Paralyzed

Our whole tax structure will be destroyed. Local governments will be ruined. Unbearable new taxes will have to be levied on you and your neighbors to raise 310 millions of dollars, the cost of this proposal as estimated by Wm. S. Evatt, Tax Commissioner for the Department of Taxation.

The Second Bigelow Amendment

This proposal is even worse than the first. It will give corruptive power to small sectional groups and destroy representative government. Find out about both amendments before you vote.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1939.

Drive carefully tomorrow—and warn the children of the danger of excessive speed.

Now that Eddie Cantor is the grandfather of a son a great new field of sidesplitting radio humor is opened to him.

A Kansas City man who stood on a street corner handing out quarters to passersby, was taken to police headquarters for investigation—sort of a panhandler in reverse.

Navy Day Takes New Meaning

YESTERDAY'S observance of Navy day took on more than ordinary significance as speakers emphasized the brilliant and inspiring part the American navy has taken in past wars and its vital defensive role, in the event of this nation ever again being forced into war.

Without effort, or intention to become such, it now appears that recent British naval losses have made the United States navy the greatest power afloat, and with present unsettled world conditions and long east and west coastlines to be guarded, it seems essential to maintain, or even increase, this defensive strength.

Navy day observance has heretofore included opportunity for public inspection of naval vessels, but danger of sabotage resulted in the privilege being withdrawn this year.

While everyone hopes that the United States navy may be required to serve no other purpose than as an efficient part of this nation's preparedness for defensive warfare, the fact remains that the future cannot be foreseen and that American feel more at ease as a result of their confidence in the equipment and personnel of their navy.

War Time Consolation

AN ILL WIND blows some good to America. The present war situation, while lamentable and regrettable in many respects, seems to bring America some benefits for the present, at least.

It is a business stimulant, operating along with what seems like a natural recovery wave to bring our country, for a while, out of the depression.

It has also been a powerful influence in uniting the democracies of this hemisphere, bringing them closer together in spirit, business and general co-operation than they have ever been before.

It has had a chastening effect on our troublesome Pacific neighbor, Japan, so that it may soon be possible to accomplish some kind of reasonable settlement in eastern Asia and restore peaceful co-operation in the Pacific area.

Sociable Bombers

SIX FLYING FORTRESSES of the military establishment of the United States will go to Rio de Janeiro before long, not to bomb anything or any place or any people, but to attend a nation's birthday celebration. The Republic of Brazil will be fifty years old on November 15 and the neighbors are gathering around with congratulations.

The big bombers will leave on their friendly mission on Armistice day and will come back to the home base about fourteen days later.

Our government is 100 years older than Brazil's and seems pretty well established beyond the reach of ideological storms. There was a time when a South American country would have been suspicious and perhaps resentful of such guests at a national fete.

Today, Brazil and other Latin-American countries are increasingly confident of this country's good will and welcome its expression.

Danger In Tape Plumbing

THINGS that doctors and nurses can do with adhesive tape are an endless marvel to patients and laymen in general. In their hands a roll of such tape seems to assume all the functions of a screwdriver, a pair of pliers and a coil of wire in the hands of humbler geniuses operating in more mechanical realms. Yet sometimes the miraculous tape fails in their hands.

So it seems to have been in the sad story of the hospital in Perth Amboy, N. J., where several babies lost their lives by hot steam escaping from a defective radiator. The police chief reported that a leaky valve had been wrapped in adhesive tape. As usual in any such case, where there is pressure from within the adhesive wrapping, the tape loosened.

Many amateur plumbers, trusting to adhesive tape for inanimate surgery have discovered that. Steam, hot water or cold water will loosen the wrapping and work its way out.

Crocheting as Man's Pastime

THE crochet and embroidery champion of Utah, recently chosen at the state fair, is a man whose bread-winning job is that of "mucker" at the Midvale smeltery. He shovels ore during working hours and crochets and does fine needlework as a hobby in leisure time.

His crocheted luncheon set and embroidered doilies won firsts in three divisions at the fair, and three firsts mean the championship.

This male needleworker feels no embarrassment at the title he has won. Perhaps he finds skill and artistic ability as interesting to develop in this line as they would be in any other handicraft.

No Cars For Reliefers

RELIEF CLIENTS who own cars must stop using them if they remain on the relief rolls, in some cities. Unless there are special reasons for using the car, its license plates must be turned over for impounding.

There are two grounds for this action. One is the protection of the relief family itself. If some relief money is being spent for gasoline and other car costs, it is at the expense of their food. An agency official explains that the relief budget is too small to take care of both.

Another reason is to reassure the general public that its money is being wisely, not wastefully, spent. Indiscriminate use of cars by relief clients has been a source of many complaints against the relief system and the WPA.

Enjoying a couple of weeks of freedom after twenty years in prison, Warren Billings then plans to get married.

Canada Viewed As Peace Menace

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's suggestion that the United States should dominate Canada's foreign policy, or at least that Canada's foreign relations should conform to Pan-American standards, thus severing the Dominion's tie with Great Britain, struck many hearers as merely impolitic, but for a substantial minority, it developed, it struck a responsive chord.

This minority is not clear-cut as to its objectives beyond a certain point, and is very evasive about how it would reach them, but it is important enough to merit consideration.

There is passionate agreement about the first point—that Canada should not be allowed the right to drag the United States into a world war—or any war for that matter—growing out of Canada's connection with the British Empire. Hence there is general agreement—among this minority—that Canada should withdraw from the British Commonwealth of Nations.

The same desire to have Old World ties severed goes for Jamaica, Bermuda, the British, French and Dutch Guianas, British Honduras, Martinique, Curacao, and all the rest of the Americas which at present fly European flags.

* * *

NONE of the minority so far discovered by this writer consider that force would be necessary to impose this. Most of them take the position that all the territories involved would be delighted to enter "American freedom."

Curiously enough, nearly every one of this minority desiring to divorce all the Americas from European ties are New Dealers, and nearly every one of them, though agreeing with the New Deal on everything else, disagrees violently with President Roosevelt's foreign policies since the outbreak of the war. They will admit, with sadness, that the administration has NOT been neutral—that virtually every action taken by Roosevelt or this government since the war clouds began to hover has been distinctly pro-British and French. In fact they rather harp on this, from the detention of the Bremen (this particular act can be argued of course but none of this group seems disposed to dispute it) down to the ban on submarines within the three-mile limit.

The much talked about 300-mile zone around the Americas is, however,, one of the things there "Pan Americans" do not agree about. Many of them are enthusiastic about it, though agreeing that it would be a distinct help to Britain and France, and a headache for Germany.

The "Pan Americans" admit that there is a sharp division inside the administration about the whole war policy. Some of the New Dealers, they insist, are on their side. They name Henry A. Wallace as emphatically in accord with them. They denounce William C. Bullitt, Joseph P. Kennedy and several other important members of our diplomatic corps as on the other side.

* * *

BUT they shy away from the rather obvious conclusion that the president is NOT on their side, despite the fact that it makes very little difference what advisers of the president may think if the president thinks otherwise!

They also calmly ignore the obvious unfavorable reaction in Canada, and the history of relations between Canada and the United States, which, while friendly enough, seem to point to a desire on the part of Canada to maintain an arm's-length attitude toward the United States.

Listen, World!

It Won't Be Long Now?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

time you read this article. Perhaps Europe will be in flames, perhaps it won't. Maybe one of those Smart Old Geezers across the water will have succeeded in getting a toe hold on Uncle Sam . . . and maybe they won't. But of one thing I'm sure—

IT WON'T BE LONG NOW!

In practically no time at all the old race feuds will be starting again . . . and the national spite fences will be going up . . . and the Ancient and Amalgamated Order of Blood Sniffers will be yelping down the trail!

And there'll be hell to pay all 'round!

I saw it first as a kid. A scrawny little Anglo-Saxon kid growing up on a Far West frontier where every other sauntering face I passed was brown with the sunny blood of other lands—or coppery with a blood that was older than any civilization.

People from every race on earth, milling around in that early California. Yankee, Swiss, British, Russian, golden-skinned Kanakas singing in the ship holds—and black-eyed Canucks going up to the mines. Smiling Portugee bandits with gold rings in their ears and bandolins under their arms. Indians from a score of tribes squatting in the doorways, oozing out of the alleys, silent as the wooden ones before the cigar shop door. And Chinks going by, in sing-song files with their pigtails still uncut.

People—all colors of people—set down together in a land so rich you could cut it like fruit cake—enough to make a Paradise for every living soul. But did they stop to enjoy their Paradise? They did NOT! They were too busy spitting in each others' eyes and cutting each others' throats.

ALL BECAUSE THEIR SKINS WERE OF A DIFFERENT COLOR!

NOW—DID—THAT—MAKE SENSE? I ASK YOU.

And I saw it again when the World war hit—even before we got in it. All over America. All over the richest, loveliest land on earth—that should have been the friendliest. Sure, we were all of different bloods. But that was why America was made—and the stuff they made it from. The best of every land and every blood—melting down, boiling up, settling into the grandest people on earth. Who cared about blood? Hadn't we been neighborly for generations, sharing our crops and our children, our joys and our sorrows, our hope and our anger and despair? Folks were folks, names didn't matter!

But didn't they? They mattered quick enough when the guns began to boom in Belgium . . . and the tears began to fall in France. We didn't stop to think that French tears and German tears and English were all of the same stuff: that love was love and grief was grief the world round. We forgot what we'd been a hundred years learning . . . THAT IT ISN'T THE COLOR OF A MAN'S SKIN BUT THE FABRIC OF HIS SOUL THAT COUNTS! AND WE FELL TO HATING AS CRUELLY AS IF WE WERE STILL IN THE JUNGLE.

And now it's happening again "over there." They're training the guns—and manning the tanks.

BUT WE'RE NOT IN IT—AND BY GOD'S MERCY AND OUR OWN STRENGTH AND WISDOM—MAY WE NEVER BE IN IT! Let them loose their hate and their spite and their hounds of hell—

WE'RE GOING TO HOLD OURSELVES ABOVE IT ALL—KEEPING THE FAITH OF OUR FATHERS! LOVING OUR FRIENDS, REGARDLESS OF COLOR — WITH OUR HANDS CLEAN OF BLOOD AND OUR HEARTS FREE OF HATE—FOR JESUS' SAKE—

AMEN!

Summary of Week's Happenings

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

FLYING a swastika and manned by 18 Nazi sailors, the U. S. freighter City of Flint steamed into Russia's Arctic port of Murmansk, this week, the first American vessel to be seized as a prize of war in the current European hostilities.

Owned by the government and leased to the U. S. Lines, the 4,936-ton ship had sailed from New York early this month with 5,000 tons of machinery and produce for Glasgow and Liverpool.

Somewhere in the Atlantic, nearly two weeks ago, she picked up 39 survivors of a sunken British freighter. And shortly after that, presumably, she was halted by a Nazi warship, claimed as a contraband carrier and taken over by a German prize crew.

The captors sailed her first to Tromsoe, Norway, where they put the Britons off last week-end, then on to Murmansk last Sunday night. There both captive and captors were interned by Russian authorities, who later released the Germans and assured the U. S. that the original crew of 41 Americans was safe. Thursday night the ship was ordered to leave the Russian port.

What the Law Allows.

International law provides for examination and detention of a neutral ship believed to be carrying war supplies. If more than half her cargo is held by the belligerent's prize court to be contraband, the ship can be condemned, and becomes the property of the belligerent.

Britain had detained several American vessels since the war started, officials in Washington revealed, and was understood to be paying for contraband confiscated.

Secretary of State Hull said that at least part of the City of Flint's cargo might be considered contraband. President Roosevelt said he hoped to get the vessel back.

Couldn't Have Happened . . .

Under the neutrality act revision urged by the president, a White House secretary quickly noted, the City of Flint could not have sailed on that voyage to a belligerent port.

Senate friends and foes of the administration neutrality program thereupon agreed to limitation of last-minute debate on the measure to repeal the four-year-old arms embargo and substitute cash-and-carry on all shipments to war areas and passed the bill Friday evening by a 63-30 vote.

With Vice President Garner banging his gavel to prevent stalling, senators then speedily amended the measure to eliminate even 90-day credits to belligerents but to let American ships carry anything but arms everywhere except to actual warring countries in Europe.

The Debate In Review.

Argument in the house was expected only to underscore points already developed in the senate—

For: Repeal of the embargo was more likely to keep the U. S. out of war because that would make for a short war by enabling the sea-powerful allies to buy arms here and lick Germany quickly. To continue the embargo might make the allies lose the war, and thus deprive this country of its European buffer against fascism. And to continue to let U. S. ships ply war waters might lead to loss of life and property that would make Americans want to fight.

Against: Retention of the embargo was more likely to keep the U. S. out of war because repeal would make Germany angry, and that might lead to reprisals against American shipping even in peaceful waters. And to permit arms sales would make the U. S. economy dependent on war trade, so that America might eventually have to fight to save her customers.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Herald Square was just like the cross-roads of any old cow town the other morning. . . . Dozens of riders, slouching in their saddles, trotted up 34th street and turned into Broadway. . . . They were bronzed, leathery-faced men used to much riding. . . . They were cowpunchers.

But perhaps the most unusual cow waddie in Manhattan isn't identified with this group. I wouldn't even know whether he can really ride a bronc. . . . But he has a cowboy name, and he sings cowboy songs. . . .

A little over a year ago Gene Autry was an unfamiliar name in the east. . . . I heard a man talking about him in a broadcasting studio, a man from the west, and when I asked who Autry was he said, "You'll know before long. . . . He's the biggest thing in the country, and getting bigger all the time."

* * *

WELL, he's come close—but he isn't there yet. With his gittar he's conquered most of the nation—but he still has his mark to make in New York. He's here for the attempt. Maybe New York will just love cowboy songs. Maybe New York won't.

Autrey's great hero was Will Rogers, and it was Rogers who influenced him to come east. Now with his boots and his spurs he is an interesting figure, draped over a table in the Stork Club, or wending through the town's night life. He has ridden every cow trail from Canada to the Rio Grande, they tell me. His father was a live stock dealer in Texas. He talks with the slow, molasses drawl of the southwest, but he doesn't really say "git-tar." . . . He says guitar.

* * *

SOME time during the depression he got a job making records. . . . He made a quaint, sentimental ballad known as "Silver Haired Daddy of Mine." . . . And after that they couldn't get enough of Autrey's singing. Next came Hollywood, where he made a thriller called "The Phantom Empire"—a serial, a real humdinger, and Autrey was a big shot in cowboy pictures.

For awhile he was a telegraph operator. . . . He used to croon songs of the western plains over a southwest radio station at midnight. . . . Now he's in Manhattan, for a radio appearance, then he returns to the wild and woolly life before the cowboy cameras.

What does Mr. Autry think of New York?

"I won't say I hate New York. But I don't like any big towns. I got some stock and a ranch, and there I long to be."

* * *

The other afternoon during a Walter O'Keefe rehearsal, one of the actors let loose with a scream that almost shattered the microphones. The entire cast just glanced up and went on with their business, that is, the entire cast with one exception. The exception took almost ten minutes to recover from the scare and shock. His name is Bela Lugosi, the horror man of the screen.

Timely Editorial

Destroying Through Taxes.

The report by the American Association of Railroads showing that 40.41 cents of every dollar in net earnings was paid out in taxes last year reveals one of the principal reasons why the railroads are having such a desperate struggle to keep going.

There is a foolish theory, which unfortunately is widespread, that any sort of extravagance or social experiment can be financed by the simple act of imposing additional taxes on business. These fanatics fail to see that they are gradually destroying business and industry and that if they continue their reckless demands ultimately there will be no tax source.—Ohio State Journal.

As Others See It

Similarity Seen.

Upton Sinclair denounces the "Thirty Every Thursday" scheme as a "menacing illusion"—almost as bad, it might be added, as his own EPIC program of five years ago.—Kansas City Times.

Daily Bible Thought

And you are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power.—Col. 2:10.

Comment

Dr. James B. Conant, Harvard president, on mass-education: "The false Jacksonian idea of democracy must be combatted—the view that every man is just as capable as his neighbor."

J. Edgar Hoover warns against a war-inspired "witch hunt:" "Bands of vigilantes are un-American, unpatriotic and subversive of the very things the nation now has the most need of preserving."

Abroad

Poland's Future.

Germany formally annexed the western sixth of Poland last weekend, and a plebiscite among Polish Ukranians and White Russians last Sunday rubber-stamped Soviet seizure of the eastern half—except for a sliver in the northeast, including Wilno, grabbed by Poland from Lithuania in 1920 and returned by Russia two weeks ago. That left perhaps a third of the fallen republic for "the residual Polish state" Hitler spoke of in his Oct. 6 speech to the Reichstag.

As described this week by Nazis who should know, this future Poland would be inhabited solely by Poles, including 3,000,000 Jews to be put on a reservation around Lubin. Poles would keep their religious shrine at Czestochowa and their patriotic center, Krakow, but would lose their outlet to the sea.

* * *

On the Economic Front.

Modern armies travel also on their gas tanks. Down the blue Danube from oil-hungry Germany lies Rumania, Europe's No. 2 petroleum producer. To keep their oil from the Kaiser's invading World Warriors, Rumanians so thoroughly sabotaged their wells that most weren't returned to production till after 1918. In readiness to repeat that defense maneuver, if necessary, King Carol's country has imported a crew of oil-well wrecking specialists from Texas.

* * *

Amputation Delayed.

Finnish delegates braved the Soviet operating room a second time early this week. And again they came out without revealing how much of an amputation their country might have to undergo. Same day the Finns went home to report, Dr. Stalin dispatched 45 of his economists to Berlin for trade talks.

At Home

Shorter Hours, More Pay.

Minimum legal wages for workers in interstate commerce, jumped from 25 to 30 cents an hour, last Tuesday, and the maximum normal work week dropped from 44 to 42 hours. Results, as estimated by federal officials: Pay raises for 690,000 workers, shorter hours or overtime pay for 2,380,000.

The law that sets those standards provides that, for individual industries, the wage-hour administrator may fix a wage scale higher than the general minimum.

The whole act appears to be headed toward the Supreme Court for a possible decision on constitutionality.

* * *

Broadway Boom.

The New York theater was riding a prosperity wave this week. Credited were war, better business, a practical embargo on European travel, an 11th-hour boom at the World's Fair. Broadway producers counted 18 stage plays and musicals doing good business, 10 of them playing consistently to standees. Their only worry was a congestion in future theater bookings. Typical was Helen Hayes' "Ladies And Gentlemen," which opened to a "poor press" and was selling tickets for New Year's Eve.

New York fair attendance, though far behind last spring's enthusiastic predictions for the season, was expected to top 25,000,000 before the closing next week.

* * *

Political Prayer?

From his ancestral pew in St. James's Episcopal Church at Hyde Park, last Sunday, Franklin D. Roosevelt heard the Rev. Frank R. Wilson read from the Canadian version of the Church of England prayer book: "O Lord, most heartily we beseech Thee, with Thy favor to behold the most gracious sovereign, Lord, King George. . . . Strengthen him that he may vanquish and overcome all his enemies." Pastor Wilson attached no political significance to the prayer. Senate opponents of the administration's neutrality program did.

* * *

Court Report.

The Sherman anti-trust law of 1890 prohibits combinations in restraint of trade in interstate commerce. Does it apply to professional men like doctors? Government lawyers argued it did, but the American Medical Association said not. And the Supreme Court refused, this week, to decide. An appeal from a district judge's dismissal of charges accusing AMA and some Washington physicians of conspiring against a medical cooperative formed by government employes, the high justices indicated, should be carried first to the circuit court.

* * *

Aid for Farmers.

Too much rain is causing Southern farmers to suffer. Lack of rain is worrying farmers in such states as Kansas and Nebraska. After consulting congressmen, this week, the president promised aid to both groups. The money is to come from $107,000,000 held by federal agencies for just such emergencies.

Science

Paradoxical Death Ray.

A potential death ray capable of killing a man at 50 feet was described this week by Dr. Ernest Lawrence, of the University of California, to the National Academy of Sciences in Providence, R. I. The ray could be generated by a proposed 2,000-ton electromagnet, called a cyclotrom, he said, but would have no military value because it would not kill immediately and because the machine would be too big to tote around. Since the apparatus could make ordinary objects radio-active and produce large quantities of mysterious "heavy" electrons, however, Dr. Lawrence said it would be a boon to science.

* * *

Prelude to Death.

Two years ago a young medical student at Stanford University, Fred Hinds, idly put a sample of his blood under a microscope. Startled, he noted he had few white corpuscles. A further check convinced him he had myelogenous leukemia, a rare, fatal disease in which white corpuscles disappear and bone marrow replaces tissue. For two years he kept a secret record of the disease's progress. Last Sunday, he died. Scientists believe his notes will greatly aid efforts to find a cure for the disease.

Mrs. Holland Has Program at Club

A tea at the home of Mrs. J. E. Lautsbaugh on Park avenue west was an event of Friday afternoon for members of the Cosmopolitan club. Mrs. C. A. McClure was the associate hostess.

Mrs. G. E. Holland reviewed Ethel Lewis' book, "White House" during the program, and told of the lives of the presidents while they were in Washington. Mrs. Holland presided at the table, which was decorated with chrysanthemums and Halloween appointments, when tea was served.

Mrs. H. G. Balyeat has invited the group to her home on Edgewood road for the meting of Nov. 10, when a panel discussion on "Consumer Relations" will be conducted.

* * *

VISIT HERE.

Mrs. John Ganzhorn and her daughter, Mary Jo, of Willard, Mrs. Clarence Donnenwirth, her daughter, Shirley, and Mrs. Martin Donnenwirth, all of Plymouth were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A Wenning, 575 Garfield place, Friday.

* * *

CIRCLE HAS SESSION.

There were 11 members and two guests of Circle One of the Park Avenue Baptist church present Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Balliet, South Adams street, for the regular meeting Mrs. Hayes M. Braker gave the program on missionary work. Mrs. Victor Alderson gave the devotions, and Mrs. William H. Kissell, Wood street, will entertain on Nov. 22.

* * *

GIVES PARTY.

Miss Marilyn Sutter, 661 Gilbert avenue, entertained 14 of her friends Friday night at a Halloween party. Appropriate decorations were used throughout the house, and refreshments were served at the close of the evening. Games were played, and prizes were won by Colleen Messmore, Joyce Swaney, Marjorie Pfeifer, Morma Koteski.

PLAN SESSION.

The All-American club will meet for the quarterly covered-dish dinner at noon Sunday at Johns Park pavilion. Members and friends will attend the function, officers in charge announced.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, Oct. 29.

SUNDAY'S horoscope is contradictory. There is splendid promise for auspicious and happy personal activities, mainly in emotional, romantic, social or artistic affairs, but there also may be sudden upheaval, turbulence and devastating situations.

Those whose birthday it is may find their spiritual and subtle forces may be the means of offsetting and maneuvering difficult, baffling and peculiar matters that are suddenly precipitated.

A child born on this day, while having certain eccentric, violent and reckless tendencies, may also have a calm, calculating mystical or spiritual inner nature to fall back on in devastating circumstances, probably in its love life.

For Monday, October, 30

Monday's astrological forecast is for a generally favorable and propitious state of affairs, providing utmost precaution is exercised in the handling of all manner of papers, writing and documents. In this have an eye to possible litigation. Romantic, emotional or social activities flourish.

Those whose birthday it is are assured a year of progress, happiness and prosperity, in both business and personal life, if they will be prudent with all writings, guarding against fraud and litigation.

A child born on this day may be talented, resourceful and fairly embitious, although its social or sentimental life may over-shadow its desire for accomplishment.

Tell Marriage of Miss Kaser to Friends Here

Announcement was made today of the marriage of Marguerite Helen Kaser formerly of 147 Wolfe avenue to Dr. Edward Lawrence Pross, son of Mrs. Rosa K. Pross, Chillicothe. Dr. and Mrs. Pross, who had resided in Columbus until recently, are now in Iowa City, Iowa. They were married at Decatur, Ind. at the Zion Evangelical Lutheran church on Jan. 2, 1937. Rev. C. E. Schneider officiated. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L Kaser of this city.

Mrs. Pross, a graduate of Ashland college, is a former employe of the Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company. She taught in the Urbana schools, and was employed at the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation in Columbus the past few months. She has also attended Ohio State university.

Dr. Pross, who is a graduate of State, was a member of the Ashland High school faculty. He is a member of Delta Sigma Rho and Phi Alpha Theta, honorary fraternities. He was affiliated with the Archeological Museum after receiving his Ph. D. in history, and at present he is associated with the speech department at Iowa State university. The couple is at home at 328 North Dubuque street.

Art Study Members Have Tea; Mrs. Fensch Presents Paper

THE Susie Janis home was the scene of the meeting of the Art Study club Friday afternoon when Mrs. Joseph Tomlin, Mrs. Warren Fort and Mrs. William Keefe entertained 26 members and two guests, Mrs. C. M. Falk, and Carol Ann Keefe. Mrs. Richard Fensch gave the paper on The Cloisters, Tyron Park, New York City.

The cloisters are a branch of the Metropolitan Museum of Art consisting entirely of exhibits of European medieval art. It was the gift of John D. Rockefeller. Mrs. Fensch illustrated her talk with slides.

A social hour followed and tea was poured by Mrs. Falk and Mrs. George Cairns, an associate member. The table was decorated with bronze chrysanthemums in a gold cart, and bronze candles. The next meeting will be a guest tea Nov. 10 in the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Paul Endriss will speak on "Showmanship in Advertising."

Hostesses include the officers and program committee who are Mrs. Harvey Lanehart, Miss Lena L. Bowman, Mrs. Leonard Nigh, Mrs. Marion Brinkerhoff, Mrs. William Kuhn, Miss Henrietta Frank and Mrs. K. E. Buhr.

Use Musical Tray as Centerpiece

An unusual centerpiece was the feature of Friday's meeting of the Cottage Garden club when Mrs. H. D. Smith, Woodward avenue, assisted by Mrs. George Fort entertained. The decoration for the luncheon table consisted of a long wooden musical tray heaped with a pumpkin, fruits and nuts. Mrs. Howard Miller and Mrs. E. C. Frampton presided at the table.

Mrs. S. D. Hoover gave a paper on gourds, and Miss Mary Maxwell and Richard Wright, students from Mansfield Senior high school, spoke on the three-mill levy.

The next meeting will be Nov. 17 at the home of Mrs. T. J. Patton, Arlington avenue. Mrs. Frampton will serve as associate hostess at that time.

* * *

HOLD SESSION.

Members of Lady Garfield council No. 24 Daughters of America met in regular session Friday night at Eagle hall with Mrs. Clara Hicks, councelor, in chage. There were 46 members, and five guests from Ashland and Marion present A benefit card party and dance followed the meeting. The next session will be Nov. 10 at the hall.

DANCE TONIGHT.

Employes of the Tappan Stove company and their friends will dance tonight at the American Legion home between the hours of 8:30 p. m. and midnight. Aub Oman and His Slaves of Rhythm, a newly organized orchestra comprised mostly of Tappan employes will play, and a floor show will be presented. Approximately 300 couples are expected at the affair.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

That Thompson was equally astounded I knew when I heard him say sharply:

"What's this you're saying, Mr. Graham? A joke? I can't believe that."

"But—" Dicky's lips were stiff and white, and his voice coming through them was strained and unnatural "—I can assure you that it is a colossal joke. If you will just let these men go—"

"Not without you," the leader of the "policemen" said with pretended joviality. "We'd never hear the last of it if we went back to headquarters without you."

"No," I said explosively. "My husband is not going with you. He is staying here."

"Marjie!" Dicky said with remonstrance in his tone, "you really mustn't interfere. If you'd let these men into the room in the first place, all this could have been avoided."

My pulses pounded at the name "Marjie." Again he had given me the signal to disregard everything he had said. Evidently he was depending on me to get him out of this particular jam.

I went into action immediately, putting every bit of histrionism I possessed into the act. I fervently hoped Philip Veritzen's expressed opinion of my ability was even 50 per cent correct, for I needed to register sincerity and uncontrollable emotion.

"Dicky!" I exclaimed, and knew that he would understand I meant what I was saying now. "Do you realize that these men shot at me, your wife, and I saw them twisting your arms? If these things are your idea of a joke, they aren't mine. Mr. Thompson!" I did not take my eyes off Dicky, but the guard's response was instant.

"Yes, Mrs. Graham."

"Keep your revolvers leveled on those men until I give the word to stop."

"We have them there," was the quiet response.

"Tell me," I adjured him. "Do you think these men are real officers?"

"We know they're not," he replied quietly.

The leader of the pseudo-officers exploded into protest and profanity.

"Look here! you boob!" he addressed Dicky, "are you going to hide behind your wife's skirts any longer, or are you going to get out of here with us? This is going far beyond a joke."

"Marjie!" Dicky's tone was again raucous. "For the last time, are you going to call these men of yours off?"

"No!" I made my negative response as explosive as his request. "Under no circumstances!"

"You see!" Dicky turned to the men and spread his hands in a gesture of futility. "If my wife were alone, I could manage her. But she's taken this insane notion and has these guards to support her. I am powerless."

"Would you like me to tell her just what will be the result of this performance if you don't send these men away?" the leader asked silkily.

Before Dicky could answer, I cut in with equally silky accents.

"I thought you said this was a joke, Dicky? These men are not talking like jokesters. Do you still want them to be released? If not, Mr. Thompson and the other will take them to the police station. But no matter what you answer, you are not going with them."

He hesitated for the fraction of an instant, and when he answered, his voice was flat, lifeless.

"Yes, Madge, I want them released. They really are practical jokers."

"Very well!" I turned briskly to Thompson. "There is nothing else we can do but to accede to Mr. Graham's request. Escort these men downstairs with as little publicity as possible. Camouflage the fact that you are keeping them covered, but do not relax your guard over them for an instant. Do not release them until they are far away from here in a place where it will take them some time to get transportation of any kind back here. Then please return here. Better leave one man on guard here if you can spare him."

THEATERS

THIS and That: Tyrone Power, who has been playing the Dirty Dog in a lot of his recent pictures, continues to cheat his wife in "Daytime Wife" in which Linda Darnell, latest screen "find" plays the wife. . . . "The Earl of Chicago" troupe had to come home from England to finish the picture, but it is still English enough to be flying the British Jack. Robert Montgomery and Edward Arnold are surrounded by British players —mostly comedians and character actors.

"Honeymoon In Bali."

A double feature bill at the Madison, which opens today, brings Madelene Carroll, Fred MacMurray and Carolyn Lee in "Honeymoon In Bali" and $1,000 A Touchdown" which teams two of the biggest mouths in Hollywood—Joe E. Brown and Martha Raye. It's a comedy all the way through, with a college background. And of course Joe is a quarterback or half back or something.

"Roaring Twenties."

The days of easy money, of bootlegging, kidnaping and rackets as this country saw them in the "Roaring Twenties," are depicted in James Cagney's latest picture, which the Ohio theater is showing the first half of the week, starting today. Priscilla Lane is co-starred with Cagney, as the night club singer, and Humphrey Bogart is seen in one of his "tough guy" roles.

"Captain Fury."

The romantic story of the men who leave England to build a new life for themselves in the colonies is told in "Captain Fury" which is one of the Ritz bills for the first two days of the week, starting Sunday. Brian Aherne and Victor McLaglen are two who go to Australia and fight against odds to rehabilitate themselves with society. June Lang is the romantic interest in Aherne's life. Also shown on the bill will be "Maisie" with Robert Young and Ann Sothern.

* * *

"The Hurricane."

A poignant love story is told against the background of a great disaster in "Hurricane." A native boy and girl, cruelly separated, are brought together after their native island is totally destroyed by a tidal wave and hurricane. Nothing like the wind and water of this picture have ever been brought to the screen before. Dorothy Lamour, Jon Hall, Mary Astor and others make up the cast. The picture is booked for the Park, with "Mickey The Kid," as a second attraction.

Spook Show.

The sensation-seeking patron who doesn't give a hoot for plausibility so long as there are chills and thrills in his screen menu, will find a dish to his liking in the double feature spook show which the Majestic offers Sunday and Monday. EFFECTIVE THINKING

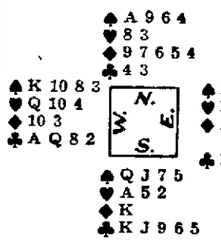
SOME OF THE cogitations of fine players may seem pretty far fetched to the average person, but in more than a modicum of cases it proves highly effective. The spectacular player might be defined as one who departs from habit oftener than others in refraining from taking ordinary finesses and otherwise. Usually those departures will be found to be based on some very definite line of reasoning.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

Here South had bid 1-Club, North 1-Spade, East 2-Hearts, South 2-Spades. West made a trap pass, although able to bid at this stage, then East bid 3-Diamonds and West 3-No Trumps.

When the diamond 9 was led West was immediately confronted with the critical consideration of the entire deal. He reckoned that North's hand must be quite weak if he could only bid the spades once, and that the lead also made it extra likely that South had the diamond K. In fact, that king might even be a singleton, since South had shown club length, plus enough spade length to raise that suit. He therefore decided to eschew the finesse and came up with the diamond ace. As a consequence, he took five tricks in diamonds, four in hearts and two in clubs.

Had the diamond finesse been tried, North and South would have set the contract by merely leading spades at every opportunity.

LEGACY OF LOVE

By KATHRN BEMIS

(Copyright, 1939)

CHAPTER XI.

He linked an arm through hers, led her through the lounge, waited while she hurried into the dressing-room to get her ermine cape.

Soon, she and Terry were saundering across the terrace, and on down a winding path that led to the swimming beach. The moon was high overhead, its reflection a huge sparkling diamond on the ring of the ocean.

Rita took a deep breath, then burst out involuntarily, "Moonlight on the water! It's lovelier every time I see it!"

"Yes—it's . . . ."

They jumped simultaneously at a sound behind them. Rita, whirling, saw a tall man run swiftly up the beach, disappear in the shadows.

Terry flung aside his cigarette, grabbed Rita's arm. "We'd better investigate—it sounded like a shot."

Rita and Terry ran along the hard wet sand to a cluster of rowboats beached side by side. The moonlight clearly outlined their emptiness.

Rita took a few steps ahead to the last boat and gave a sharp cry. There on the sand beside the boat lay a man!

Rita and Terry approached him cautiously.

Terry knelt down and peered closely into the still, white face. Blood was oozing through the man's white shirt-front.

"Who is he?" came fearfully from Rita. "Is he—dead?"

"Nobody I ever saw before," Terry told her unsteadily. "He's poorly dressed—probably one of the itinerants who roam the beaches. Poor fellow! He's shot clean through the heart!"

"Why should any one want to shoot a man like that?" Rita asked agitatedly.

* * *

Rita noticed a glistening object a few feet away, and picked it up while Terry was bending over the inert man.

Almost as soon as she had the silver cigaret case in her hands she saw the engraved letters on its top. T. C.! She stifled on inarticulate cry, on impulse thrust this incriminating bit of evidence inside the neck of her gown. She felt suddenly faint, sick with a strange helplessness Tom Cleveland!

"I think he's dead," said Terry, getting up from his knees. "I can't make out any pulse. It's a clear case of murder—we'd better notify the police"

She could feel Terry's body quivering as she clutched his arm Breathless and horrified, they ran the short distance back to the clubhouse.

On the terrace they encountered Tom Cleveland, alone. He was furiously puffing a cigaret.

"What's the mad rush?" he inquired sharply.

"Man shot down on the beach! Got to phone the police!" Terry panted, dashing past.

Rita, rigidly determined, paused before Tom.

"It was—horrible!" she panted.

"Who was shot?" quickly asked Tom.

"I—we didn't recognize him. But I saw a man running—after we heard the shot. I'm sure he—did the shooting."

"Nice mess you've got yourself into! If you hadn't been out there with Terry . . . ." If she'd been more composed, she would have thought him jealous.

* * *

But her brain was racing in circles. She was thinking horrible thoughts. That tall man who had run away—he would have had just about time to get back here on the terrace. And—here was the tall Tom! Tom, who had come west, disguised himself, been acting peculiar, to say the least! Oh, she mustn't be so excited, she mustn't jump at conclusions!

Tom Cleveland took out a package of cigarets. He lighted another cigaret from the burning end of the one in his mouth with unsteady hands.

"I hope to heaven you won't have to testify in a murder case, Rita—it won't be pretty."

"Definitely not. Murder cases are never—pretty. But if I'm called—I'll tell all I know," she told him firmly.

"Guess I haven't been looking out for you lately as I should," he said, and laughed dryly.

"You appointed yourself to that role, remember. I really don't need your—your protection, Mr. Cleveland!" she flared.

"Listen, Miss Spitfire! I saw you go out with Terry—wondered what the crazy rascal was up to I figured he'd have you riding in a boat or make ferocious love to you—and I couldn't take it. I took a short cut to the beach, got there before you did then called myself a jealous fool, and came back here sulky as all get out. Too bad I missed the fracas."

Rita's world suddenly stood bleak and black and motionless. The case inside her blouse was a heavy cold weight crushing her breast. Tom—oh, Tom!

* * *

The cool breeze sweeping in from the bay ruffled Tom's sandy hair, made him look like a guileless boy. It wrung Rita's heart. She stood staring up at him stupidly, knowing that she should leave him, then deciding to get some sort of affirmation of innocence from him first.

A sudden chill ran through her. She drew her warm ermine cape more closely around her.

Tom put out his two hands, turned the collar high about her throat, gently held it there his sober gray eyes holding her gaze in a vise

"You don't have much faith in me, do you?" he said unexpectedly then

She flinched perceptibly, tore her eyes away. But she could not move her tight lips

He leaned down quickly before she sensed what he was about, and pressed a kiss squarely on her mouth.

She drew back thoroughly shaken and his hands fell away.

"Oh—how could you!" she whispered tremulously.

"Because—I still love you," he told her stoutly

Awnings to Hold Weight Advantage Over Supplies

EARL McMULLEN and his Automotive Supplies had a lot of trouble staring them in their faces today as they made ready for their major game of the season.

* * * * *

At 2:30 p. m. Sunday, the Mansfield semi-pro club will engage the touted South Akron Awnings in Akron, and there is every indication that the fur will fly.

* * * * *

Both teams are undefeated, and, in addition to an unmarred record, the Akron gridsters boast an uncrossed goal line.

Whether the Supplies can cross the Akron goal cannot be told until Sunday, but the McMullen men are primed for a tough battle. McMullen believes his charges are in the best condition of the season.

With Al Schwaner and Vern Heiser shouldering the heavy end of the offensive burden, the Supplies will present a dangerous attack in the air and on the ground. Both are versatile performers.

The Awnings will outweigh the Mansfield contingent by a good margin, according to reports, and McMullen today hoped for a dry field.

The Supplies probably have the speed on the Awnings, but this advantage will mean little if the gridiron is soggy.

Despite the weight disadvantage, McMullen can point to a durable line, which is composed of experienced performers.

* * * * *

Among the linemen McMullen will have available for the all-important game are Gaylord Bucher, twice an All-Ohio guard while at Mansfield high; Elmer Dials, star of the Ohio State freshman team last year; Ed Zediker, an ex-Tyger, and "Vert" Schwaner, brother of the back.

* * * * *

Fans wishing to follow the Supplies will be offered bus transportation, Business Manager Phil Rizzo has announced. Buses will leave at 9 a. m. from the Sons of Herman hall, Orange street, and bus terminal, North Diamond street.

Crestline Plows to Seventh Win on Muddy Grid

IN THE RUHL BOOK

By OSCAR RUHL,
News-Journal Sports Editor.

WITH the sale of the Lima property to home interests, Mansfield is the only Ohio State league member operated by out-of-town people. There has been some talk of a Mansfield syndicate buying the Braves from the Toledo owners, but so far nothing in the way of a deal has materialized.

Lima joined the ranks of home-owned clubs this week when two business men of that city purchased the Pandas from the Toledo operators.

The Toledo group made money in Lima, and it took $27,250 to make the deal. The reason it relinquished the Pandas is a desire to purchase a club in a league of higher classification, we understand.

The Lima club, situated in the best baseball town in the circuit, will make money again next year, probably a lot more than last season. With virtually all of the players of the 1939 team that won the Shaughnessy playoff due to return, the Pandas are likely to get off to a better start than last season when they were 21 games behind the leader on June 27, and a fast getaway will build early attendance.

This is a particularly bad period for baseball news as the touchdown machines are making the headlines, and operators of the Mansfield club have not done anything in an attempt to break into print.

It is not likely that their plans for next season will be divulged until early in 1940.

It seems the question now is not when will Chicago quit playing football, but when will Chicago start?"

Vern Heiser to Be On Spot Sunday.

VERN HEISER will be on the spot Sunday when the Automotive Supplies go to Akron for their game with the Awnings. The Akron paper carried a story this week that said Heiser had scored 136 points in five games this season. That's just about the number of points the team has registered.

Steele Added To Mat Card

Mansfielder to Meet Parker In Opener Monday.

"Bud" Steele, former Plymouth motor officer, now a resident of Mansfield, has been added to the opening mat show of the indoor season in the Armory Monday night, it was announced today by Tim Nolan, matchmaker for the Quality Club.

Steele, who showed to advantage here last winter, has been signed to wrestle "Sailor" Parker, Cincinnati ex-marine, in a one fall, 30 minute time limit match which will open Monday night's show.

The Great Mephisto, mysterious star of lightheavyweight mat circles, will meet Walter Miller, rugged Atlanta, Ga., lightheavyweight, in two out of three falls, 90 minute time limit main bout of this show.

Bob Frye Scores Points As Onondagas Keep Record Unmarred.

MARION — Only the Whippets of Shelby high stands in the way as the unbeaten and untied Crestline high gridiron warriors battle for their first clean record since 1936.

Coach Merle Hutson's classy combine turned back a stubborn Marion St. Mary's eleven here last night in the rain and mud for Victory No. 1, but Bob Frye, who is fighting to overtake Howard Hamilton of Bellville in the state individual scoring race tallied only eight points.

* * *

Frye contributed Crestline's initial touchdown last night and converted two extra points from placement to send his total for the season to 103 points, 15 behind Hamilton.

* * *

The Onondagos punched over its markers in the first and second quarters in topping St. Mary's in a contest that was slowed up by numerous fumbles.

Crestline reached the Marion two-yard stripe in the fading seconds of the setto, but didn't have time to cross into pay dirt.

Phil Ganni, who added the other six points, set the stage for the last period threat when he returned a pass interception from the Crestline 12 to the rivals' 15. His interception halted Marion's lone scoring threat.

* * *

A 44-yard run by Ganni on the first play of the game gave Crestline its first chance to score. Frye bucked over from the Marion two on fourth down. Frye tossed a lateral to Ganni for the other score in the second period. The play covered 43 yards.

* * *

Crestline, which meets the Whippets at Shelby next Saturday, had eight first downs, with Marion collecting six.

Stout Bearcat Line Repulses Reserve Bids

Cincinnati, Cleveland Teams Battle to Scoreless Tie; Marietta, Northern Win.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Western Reserve, one of Ohio's pre-season football favorites, slipped another step downward on the ladder of mediocrity today.

* * *

The once-proud Red Cats, already beaten by Ohio university and Baldwin-Wallace, battled to a scoreless deadlock with Cincinnati here last night in one of the state's three games.

* * *

In the other tussles, both Ohio conference games, Marietta edged Denison, 7 to 6, at Marietta and Ohio Northern stopped Capital at Columbus, 6 to 0.

Reserve, gaining 176 yards by rushing for 10 first downs, threatened to score several times, but always was repulsed by a stout Bearcat line. Cincinnati's best chance to tally came early in the game when Halfback Tom Lonchar attempted a field goal from the 23-yard line. The kick went wide. His punting, however, was a big factor in keeping the Clevelanders away from the goal line.

Johnny Ries, crack Red Cat, and Frank Crisci, veteran tackle, aggravated old injuries in the battle and probably will be out of action the rest of the season.

* * *

Capital, previously undefeated in conference play, fell before the Polar Bears when a second-period aerial attack brought a touchdown on a pass from Quarterback Keel to Halfback Novak. Northern later went to the Lutherans' 10. Capital passed as far as the Northern eight-yard line in the closing minutes.

Halfback Joe Bosheski's plunge for the extra point gave Marietta its decision over Denison.

Les Returns

Les Cunningham returns to the scene of his former triumphs Saturday night when the Cleveland Barons make their season debut against the Chicago Blackhawks of the National league at the Cleveland Arena.

Last year Les was an important cog in the well-oiled Baron hockey machine that won the International-American league championship. Saturday Cunningham returns as a member of the Blackhawks—a big leaguer.

Coaches' Club Organizes Monday

Plans for the organization of a Downtown Coaches club will be furthered at a meeting of followers of Mansfield high school athletic teams in the assembly room at the Chamber of Commerce at 8 p. m. Monday.

The purpose of the organization is to aid in the promotion of interest in the various sports sponsored by the high school. The meeting is open to the public.

BIMELECH FAVORED

Henry Michaels Hits 651 In Brass League

Brig Young Collects 611 Sticks to Set Pace In Moose Home League.

HENRY MICHAELS of the Brass Finishing team, Ohio Brass league, plastered the uprights for a snappy 651 total to pace the scoring at the Meder Recreation alleys last night.

Starting out with a 214, Michaels fell to 212 in his middle game, and then finished with a 225. He led his team to a pair of wins over the Malleable Cores and the second high team total of 2612.

* * *

Jimmy Dunn's 598 enabled the All-Stars to annex team honors with a 2619 count, which, however, was good for only one win over the Engineers.

* * *

The Moose Home league pace was set by Brig Young of No. 2, who hit the sticks for a 611 series. The No. 2 team also won team scoring laurels with 2598, but took only one game from No. 6.

MOOSE BOWLING TEAMS HOSTS AT MEDER LANES

Moose bowling teams will entertain representatives of Mt Vernon and Massillon in matches at the Meder alleys at 8 p. m. today. The No. 1 and the women's teams are hosts to Mt. Vernon clubs, while No. 2 entertains Massillon.

OUTPOINTS ANDERSON

MINNEAPOLIS—Eddie Wenstob, 181, Edmunton, Alta., outpointed Arne Anderson, 199, Minneapolis (10).

Cleveland Boasts of Second Champ

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Cleveland, a city where the boxing game seems down for the count of 10, today boasted its second world's champion in history.

Clever George Pace, a dusky methodical boxer whose forte is counter punching, sits atop the bantamweights as a result of a National Boxing association edict. The Clevelander, long rated No. 1 challenger to Sixto Escobar, was elevated to the throne when the Puerto Rican abdicated to move up into the featherweight division.

MOE ROBERTS TO START SEVENTH YEAR AS BARON

CLEVELAND—(INS)—When Moe Roberts skates out on the arena ice Saturday night and takes his place at the goal mouth he will be starting his seventh season as netminder for the Cleveland Barons and his 252nd game in a Cleveland uniform.

The Barons open the season with an exhibition game against the Chicago Blackhawks. The Barons open their International-American Hockey League campaign against Philadelphia on Nov. 4 in the Quaker city.

RAIN HALTS GAME

MT. VERNON—The Mt. Vernon-Ashland North Central Ohio conference game, scheduled here last night, was postponed because of heavy rain. The contest will be played Monday night.

BUCS BUY DAVIS

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Virgil (Spud) Davis, veteran catcher of the Philadelphia Phillies, has been purchased by the Pittsburgh Pirates, it was announced today.

SIX-MAN FOOTBALL SHOWS HUGE GAIN

PIERRE, S. D.—(AP)—In the wide-open spaces of South Dakota where towns are small and far apart six-man football is running neck and neck with 11-man squads.

Nearly half the high schools this fall are using the abbreviated lineup. Sixty-five schools—19 more than last year—use the small team. Seventy play with 11-man squads.

"Woods and Waters"

By

YUNCKER BROS.

The supply of Russian boar has become large enough in North Carolina to permit the hunting of these animals in the mountains of the far western part of the state. The boar hunting season opened October 1st, and will extend through January 1st.

* * *

Charles Morgan, supervisor of Georgia game protectors, lists quail enemies in this order: wild dogs, stray cats, hawks, crows and snakes.

* * *

With rabbit and pheasant season opening in just over a week from now, it's high time to be rounding up the things you'll need for the opening day. It's an easy matter to select just the RIGHT things at Yuncker's, because you'll find only dependable equipment, and the largest stocks in North Central Ohio.

* * *

200 six inch Kentucky bass from the Ohio hatchery at Buckeye Lake have been shipped by airplane to the government hatchery in Capetown, South Africa, for propagation purposes.

* * *

Conservation of game animals is practiced in a big way out in Idaho. State game wardens are supplying salt, so necessary to wild life, by dropping it from airplanes over areas on which are 100,000 deer, 20,000 elk and other game animals.

* * *

If you want to buy a good hunting dog, Yuncker's can tell you about two pedigreed Fox Beagles, one male and one female, about 7 weeks old, that can be purchased very reasonably.

* * *

Open seasons on deer are provided in 37 states, 10 Canadian provinces and Mexico this fall. In the United States alone, it is estimated that there are 4,600,000 deer. Sportsmen and conservation departments are cooperating to perpetuate the deer supply.

In Graham county, N. C., the Joyce Kilmer Memorial Forest will be preserved in perpetuity as a tribute to the man who wrote perhaps the most widely known poem about "Trees."

Ho, Hum! Massillon Wins Again

MASSILLON—It appears to be bad business for any high school grid combine to beat or tie the Tigers of Massillon high—that is, if that team expects to meet the Massillon again.

* * *

First example came in the Mansfield-Massillon tussle this fall. Mansfield two years ago battled the Tigers to 6-6 tie, but ended up on the short end of a 78 to 0 score when they met recently.

A great New Castle, Pa., club beat Massillon, 7 to 0, two years ago and the undefeated Tigers evened the score at Massillon last night by handing the invaders a 46 to 0 drubbing before 16,500 fans.

New Castle gave the Massillon juggernaut a scare during the opening half, but lacked the punch to score. The Pennsylvania high team marched to the Massillon one-yard stripe early in the second period after the Tigers had piled up a 7 to 0 lead.

* * *

George Slusser gave the Tigers a lead they never relinquished by smashing over from the three-yard line in the initial period. Slusser and Horace Gillom shared scoring honors with a pair of touchdowns apiece.

* * *

Massillon, which scored at least one touchdown in each period, topped their scoring with three markers in the third frame.

Nothing else to pay

We guarantee the payments shown in this table to be the full amount you will pay back, when payments are made on schedule. The faster you pay, the less the total cost.

One price to all

These payments are calculated at Household's new reduced rates of 2½ months on balances up to $300 and 6% yearly on balances over $300 to $500. These rates are less than legal maximum, and we guarantee are the same to everyone—one price to all. Only borrowers sign—no endorsers on any loan. No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—It Doesn't Seem Right. By Harold Gray

HERE'S THE SET-UP, JILL—ENOCH AND ELLA KEY, POOR, HARD-WORKING FOLKS, HAD ONE SON, JASPER—DID EVERYTHING TO EDUCATE HIM, GIVE HIM A START—ONE IN A MILLION, JASPER KEY SUCCEEDED, AND REMEMBERED HIS FOLKS—
10-28-39
JASPER KEY WAS KILLED IN AN ACCIDENT—HE'D CARED FOR HIS PARENTS WELL, AND HE LEFT A HUNDRED THOUSAND TO THEM TO SEE THEM THROUGH—WITH TAXES OUT, IT STILL SHOULD HAVE ASSURED THEM COMFORT FOR LIFE—
BUT THE EXECUTOR IS ANSON JOG, BIG SHOT, POLITICAL BOSS, PROMOTER, CONTRACTOR, BANKER, FINGER IN A DOZEN THINGS—JASPER KEY APPEARS TO HAVE MISTRUSTED ANSON JOG AND WAS ARRANGING TO CHANGE HIS EXECUTOR—
BUT HE DIED—AND NOW IT APPEARS ANSON JOG GETS EVERY CENT—THE OLD FOLKS, NOTHING—JOG'S PALS, HARPE, SCARP & TITLEMAN, HAVE THE JOB OF SEEING TO IT THAT THE POOR OLD FOLKS STAY ROBBED—

Session During Evening For Visitation by Parents.

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus grade schools are preparing now for annual night school to be held Thursday, when all grades in all buildings will hold a two-hour school period instead of the afternoon period for the benefit of parents and friends who are invited to attend the classes.

Last week the high school held night school and more than 600 parents and friends visited the various classes, all of which were in session.

Following the class work, a general assembly was held. The program included several numbers by the high school band, a welcome by Principal Edwin Gearhart and a talk on the proposed 3-mill school levy by Supt. D. C. Baer.

Group singing was also conducted by Edna Ulmer, music superviser.

KILLS YEGGMAN IN GUN FIGHT

Cleveland Policeman Kills Man As He Stands Over Safe.

CLEVELAND, O.—(AP)—Police killed an unidentified yeggman early today, shooting him as he stood in front of the safe in a garage.

Patrolman William Spring said the suspect dropped during an exchange of shots and died from a wound in his temple. A second man escaped.

Police were summoned to the garage by a mechanic returning from lunch who reported he saw a shadowy form.
